$35 Pay Boost Is Asked

Local 377 of the Americn Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employes has requested, through its business representative, Frank Gillis, a $35 across-the-board increase to all classified employes of the Jefferson Union High School District.

Gillis explained the $35 increase as "based" on:

"The largest single group of employes in the district are the custodial and maintenance group, and $35 is approximately a 5½ per cent increase in this area;

"The reason for a 5½ percent increase is that the latest quarterly Consmer Price Index for the San Francisco-Oakland area is 122.7 as of March 31, 1968. The index for March 31, 1967, was 117.1. During this 12-month period, the Consumer Price Index rose 4.78 per cent and 5.6 points."

Daly City-Pacifica Chapter 397 of the California School Employes' Association has recomvended a 7 per cent general salary increase for classified employes it represents, according to the chapter's president, Mrs. Rita Woolfolk.

"Within the San Mateo area, it appears," stated Mrs. Woolfolk, "when comparing job positions, that the Jefferson High School District is lagging behind in the general range of salaries."

In contrast to other district and state employes, "It would seem that we are losing ground with each succeeding year," she said.

Mrs. Woolfolk urged maintenance of "competitive" salaries for noncertificated personnel in the district.

CITIZEN QUERIES

Explanations By Jeff High

Superintendent Edward Morgan and his Jefferson Union High School District "colleagues" have attempted to answer 19 questions put to them by the Westlake Citizens' Steering Committee concerning education in the district.

Distributed to members of the Board of Trustees and Dr. Sanford A. Marcus, acknowledged leader of the watchdog citizens' group, the answers related to Jefferson districting, Westmoor expansion, taxes in the district, fiscal problems, Serramonte High School, and "general" educational concerns of the committee.

Trustee chairman Raymond Milton urged Dr. Marcus take the answers back to his group, and at the same time offered

Foxridge Positions Softening

By WILL THOMAS

The South San Francisco Unified School District Board of Trustees and administrators think they must sell all or part of the lots that front the Foxridge Junior High School in the Westborough tract for financial reasons.

They cite the uncertainty over what state funds might be available. They're worried.

The chairman of the Board of Trustees, Leo Eserini, explained that the district's teachers cannot be offered contracts, since the amount of money to be received is not known.

A wire was sent to Governor Reagan last Friday, asking for an indication of the funding that might be anticipated.

As yet, there's been no reply.

While Westborough folks were pleading for "open space for our children" and for trustees not "to bury that school," Eserini attempted to put across that "our duty is to educate children . . . our sole point here is education."

The board's job, he added, is "to carry out the wishes of all the people."

"The taxpayers' money should be spent where it does the most good for education," Eserini emphasized.

It was explained that when the Foxridge site was purchased, it was at a price established by court at imminent domain proceedings.

Dr. Paul Nielsen, district superintendent, said the district figured to spend about $32,000 an acre, but ended up paying $46,000 an acre, with the intent, even then, of selling off about 10 lots.

The sale of all 11 lots, Dr. Nielsen declared, would bring to the district some $110,000, which would amount to about seven-or eight cents on the basic tax rate.

Eserini added that the $110,000, in the light of the state funding uncertainty, "looks like $500,000" to the district at this point.

Dr. Nielsen said $100,000

AFTER TWO HEARINGS

CATV Franchise Revoked by D.C.

By DON GRIERSON

Daly City Councilmen voted unanimously Monday to revoke the franchise of the city's community antenna television company, California Cable Communications Corporation.

Council action followed two public hearings during which petitions both favoring and opposing the firm's operations were submitted, and during which City Attorney Al Polonsky introduced a long list of charges and accusations against the CATV firm.

The resolution revoking the "non-exclusive" franchise. prepared by Polonsky, stated the city was terminating the agreement because the firm "has failed to provide services in certain specific areas of the city," and "failed to provide all the channels required by the agreement with the city and by the Federal Communications Commission."

The resolution revoking the "non-exclusive" franchise, prepared by Polonsky, stated the city was terminating the agreement because the firm "has failed to provide services in certain specified areas of the city," and "failed to provide all the channels required by the agreement with the city and by the Federal Communications Commission."

The company has succeeded in providing only seven channels, according to Polonsky, while the franchise agreement required that 12 channels be made available.

The resolution also stated that the company failed to obtain the city engineer's approval on a number of installations and construction projects related to work on the system.

William Ferdon, attorney for the cable company, entered a petition this week signed by 220 Westlake Terrace residents who favored continuance of the franchise.

A number of CATV subscribers from the Westlake Terrace area also spoke in favor of the firm's continued operation at a public hearing preceding the council vote Monday.

Ferdon also pointed out that a petition signed by 150 persons and presented to the council by Mrs. William Kennaugh last week "actually represented only about 60 subscribers."

Representatives of the CATV firm repeated their contention that "circumstances beyond our control" were largely responsible for their failure to meet all terms of the franchise agreement, but council members were steadfast in their position.

Polonsky said he intends to

Educators Answer Queries From Citizens' Committee

Promotion of four Jefferson High School District educators was announced by Supt. Edward Morgan Tuesday.

Approved by trustees in an executive session Monday night were these changes:

—Glenn South, former Westmoor principal, who has been an administrative assistant for the past year, to assistant superintendent for business, succeding Fred Goodell, who will retire at the end of the month after 11 years in the district.

—Dr. Harold Tonini, shifted from assistant superintendent for instruction to assistant superintendent for personnel.

—Ernest Ribera, from principal of the Jefferson High School in Daly City, to assistant superintendent for instruction.

—Edward Cereghino, assistant principal for instruction at Jefferson High, to principal of that Daly City school.

Morgan said the positions of assistant superintendent for guidance and special servics in the district office and assistant principal for instruction at Jefferson are yet to be filled.

He hopes to forward recommendations on these posts to the Board of Trustees on June 24.

Dr. Tonini, who came to the Jefferson District in 1960 from Paramount, to assume the principalship of Terra Hova High School. He spent seven years there before becoming assistant superintendent for instruction this year.

Tonini received his AB and MA degrees at University of California at Berkeley, majoring in mathematics with minors in social studies and history, and his doctorate from the University of Southern California.

Ribera, who received his AB from San Jose State and his master's from Stanford, is a veteran of 19 years in the district.

He was named principal of Jefferson last year, after serving four years as principal of Oceana High in Pacifica. He spent seven years as a teacher and track coach at Jefferson, before shifting to Westmoor when it opened in 1957 as head of the social studies department. With the opening of Terra Nova, he became dean of boys and later assistant principal.

Ribera lives in Pacifica with his wife and eight children.

Cereghino, the new Jefferson principal, received his third advancement in 1½ years.

Last year he was promoted from the teaching staff of the

Coaches Ask Pay Policy Here

The Coaches' Association of the Jeffesson Union High School District in Daly City and Pacifica is urging a permanent policy on their hourly payment for extra-curricular athletic work.

For the past two years, the district's coaches have received, after controversy-shrouded negotiations, special wages for the after-school coaching hours.

It's been on a year-to-year basis.

The coaching pay program "should not be left on a year-to-year basis," the association has claimed in urging a permanent policy.

Supt. Edward Morgan has said all requests involving finances will not be acted upon however, until the district learns of the extent of state assistance to education.

Vandalism At Record In District

Vandalism in the four Jefferson Union High School District schools appears to have zoomed this year, according to a report filed with trustees Monday night by assistant superintendent Fred Goodell.

The figure of $11,597.37 recorded in damage through vandalism at Jefferson, Westmoor, Terra Nova and Oceana High Schools in Daly City and Pacifica this year is greater than all of the previous four years lumped together.

Goodell, in explaining the increase, commented that his report might not be "completely accurate," however because he is not certain all instances of vandalism has been reported to the district office.

On the other hand, that there might be some deceptiveness to the large jump this year also was indicated.

Goodell pointed out that the seemingly high rate of increase could be due to greater efficiency in reporting of vandalism by school personnel.

Over the five-year period, the report showed, the district schools have suffered over $22,000 in damages through vandalism, primarily broken glass.

Goodell's compilations show the greatest amount of damage has been done to Westlake's Westmoor High School, about $9,363 worth in five years.

Others over the five-year period: Jefferson, approximately $6,856; Oceana, about $2,388; Terra Nova, in the neighborhood of $6,100.

E. Market Street

Citizens in D.C. Battle Extension

Several residents of the East Market Street area in Daly City voiced objections to a proposed widening and improvement project on the street at a public hearing before the council Monday night.

The project, a joint effort by the city and county, is intended to improve access to the new Guadalupe Canyon Parkway connecting Daly City and Old Bayshore Boulevard at Brisbane.

It involves the stretch of East Market between County Street and Guadalupe Canyon Parkway, and would necessitate removing portions of the front lawns of several residences

Miss San Bruno Pageant Tonight

The San Bruno Chamber of Commerce will combine its second quarter general membership meeting with the judging for Miss San Bruno of 1968 tonight at the Lazy V restaurant.

The meeting, reports Chamber secretary-manager Larry Mobley, has been billed as a "Pageant and Progress" dinner.

A 7:15 p.m. dinner will be preceded by a 6:30 p.m. cocktail hour.

Three finalists in the Miss San Bruno contest will model evening gowns, bathing suits and casual dress prior to judging, according to Stan vanderHule, pageant director.

The results of the judges' voting will be known following a 20 minute film to be presented by West Bay Rapid Transit on that system's progress.

Brisbane Council Ousts Its Staff

Brisbane councilmen fired their city manager, city attorney and city engineer last night, and voted to oust Sheriff Earl Whitmore and his deputies from the city police department.

In a "clean sweep" expected since the council requested resignations from City Manager Lanier Brady, City Attorney John Sherman and City Engineer Carl Kirker last month, council members terminated employment of the department heads "effective immediately."

The move to terminate the city's contract with the sheriff's department for administration of the police force came as a surprise to most observers.

Sheriff Whitmore assumed control of the department several months ago after Chief Lillard "Tex" Dyer was indicted on charges involving misuse of public funds.

Lt. William Moran has served as acting chief in Whitmore's behalf, and the city recently entered a one-year agreement with the sheriff for the administrative services.

Controversy Over Proposal To Sell S.S.F. School Lots

would educate 200 youngsters for one year.

Eserini said the board was attempting to "exhaust' all other avenues of obtaining revenue before going to citizens for additional tax monies.

The City of South San Francisco has entered the fray through an application regarding subdivision of the land.

The city has not yet taken action on the application, pending some sort of compromise by trustees and citizens.

As a result of a meeting last week, a proposal for sale of seven of the controversial lots and landscaping perhaps by the city of four others is being pondered.

Trustees of the South San Francisco Unified School District and municipal planning and parks commissions representatives and spokesman for the Westborough Homeowners Association last week agreed to pursue a compromise Foxridge school front - lot development proposal.

It took nearly three hours of often confusing, loud and interrupting exchanges from citizens in the audience before delegates from the city, school and improvement association reached accord on a plan they will take back to their full memberships.

The proposal first was suggested by citizen Mrs. Richard Linder, who repeatedly asked the board, "What's your deal?"

She finally wondered, "How about four?"

Mrs. Linder referred to a previous offer from the trustees that instead of selling all 11 lots fronting the Foxridge Junior High School it would hold back two for lawn and shrub development.

Her plea was not taken favorably at the time.

However, nearly an hour latar, Davie Friedenberg of the Westborough association, asked the board — when it was obvious the meeting had stretched over two hours without achievement — if trustees would "go" for the sale of seven lots, with the four remaining tabbed for development as a landscaped zone.

Trustee Dr. Bill Starmer replied he "might consider" the 7-4 ratio, if the city would assist.

He said the district doesn't want the expense of maintaining an additionally landscaped area.

But, it was emphasized that none of the persons present were in a position to decide the issue then.

Planner Daniel Pass, Parks and Recreation Department superintendent Robert Maxey, and Westborough representatives Friedenberg and Edward Toby all said they would have to put the proposition the board of trustees and if they agreed to the new proposal in concept, to open the way for negotiation.

The trustees who were present agreed, though chairman Leo Eserini explained that board member Leo Padreddii, who had to work that night and was unable to be present, had sent word he favored only the two-lot development compromise.

Consequently, Eserini declared the trustees would not act positively, without further discussion among themselves, either.

For the first 2½ hours trustees, with Eserini their principle spokesman, declined to falter from their original "compromise" — that of reducing the lot sale from 11 to nine.

With the exception of two or three speakers who supported the board, the citizens attending the session in trustee chambers on the South San Francisco High School campus, the anti-board atmosphere was maintained until Friedenberg broke the ice with his Westborough compromise proposal.

Pass, Maxey, Toby and Friedenberg took to the meeting opinions from their "people" that the trustees should not sell any of the lots.

Trustee James G. Christensen was unsuccessful in his bid to have the entire matter referred to the district attorney's office for a ruling on the legality of the proposed sale.

He pointed out that if the DA should rule against the sale, the issue would be settled.

A citizen said there was no basis for negotiation, unless and until the legality of the sale were determined.

The newest compromise, if approved by all factions and agencies involved, would result in landscaping of two lots on each side of an 80-foot-wide entrance-way.

The Westborough representatives, and others from the area, argued that establishment of the gpen, green area could be landscaped perhaps until the district needed the property for expansion purposes.

But, Dr. Paul Nielsen, district superintendent, asserted the property wouldn't be needed.

Chairman Eserini said he "agreed 100 percent" with the concepts being pushed by the residents, but was emphatic in his explanation that the property does not belong to Westborough, but to "all residents" of the district, including San Bruno, Daly City, Pacifica and Colma.

Jefferson Replies To Its Critics

the district's files to the committee.

Dr. Marcus said he was "disappointed" that he would be unable to enter into discussion with trustees at this time.

He cited the summertime vacation periods that are depleting the ranks of his committee; he hoped "dialogue" could be entered into before the residents scattered for the summer.

Milton still hoped "meaningful dialogue" between the board and the committee could be reached, starting at the trustee study session next Monday.

Some of the questions and the district's responses follow.

—The precedent of optional attendance areas for Serramonte having been set, why is it not possible, therefore, to extend this option to areas where the concern originally was voiced and where we feel that valid reasons exist for granting this option?

Ans: One purpose of the boundary change was to reduce the Jefferson and Westmoor enrollments. This, we are confident, would not be accomplished if options were extended over a larger area.

—Why is it not possible for the bus from the concerned areas to travel only to Serramonte, leaving those who choose to remain at Westmoor to provide their own transportation?

Ans: We are ARE busing children from the concerned areas to Serramonte. The Board, if it so chose, could eliminate all busing.

—Why has the feasibility of adding to Westmoor, either as an expansion or as a duplication of the school, at a saving of expenditure for the Serramonte land, never been answered to our satisfaction? We are aware that the Serramonte land must be "returned to the state," if not used, but we are also aware that we will be taxed for the land when bond redemption time comes around.

Ans: Much time and energy has been devoted to this potential alternative course of action. The Board and others have agreed that the Westmoor population would be larger than desired for optimum educational benefits and hence the decision to build Serramonte.

—As residential areas mature, they contribute fewer and fewer students to the over-all high school pattern.

Ans: Historically, in our district and in others, this is not so! As people become older and more affluent they tend to move into other housing. As neighborhoods age and mature, families with school age children move in.

—Would we not be better off to enlarge Westmoor to absorb the present population peak and then consider the location of another school elsewhere?

Ans: The District has master planned for schools of 2,-000. Studies indicate that this appears to be a realistic size from the standpoint of management, student opportunity and progress and is large enough to offer a well-balanced program of instruction. It appears also that a school will ultimately be required in the easterly area of our district.

—What does the fiscal authority of the school district estimate will be the over-all increase in the already high property taxes paid by residents of this district?

Ans: We do not know precisely at this time, because of intangibles, such as state support, assessed valuation, cut-backs in special education. "Guestimating" — 1967-68: General Purpose, $2; over-ride, .5908; Bond, .2475; total, $2.8283. 1968-69: GP, $2; over-ride, .6723; Bond, .3500; total, $3.0223.

—Will the children being transferred from Jefferson to Serramonte be thereby deprived of the advantages of (a Lab School program)?

Ans: No, Serramonte will operate a modular schedule approach. The greatest advantage of "lab" and modular type programs is to better individualize instruction for each student. Jeff students also will gain in associations with different student body makeup and in the new approach to the teaching of industrial education.

—Where does Serramonte situate in relation to the proposed freeways?

Ans: East of Skyline freeway, not contiguous to it; south of crossover from Junipero Serra to Pacifica, not contiguous to it.

—What is the planned ratio of counselors to students?

Ans: Pursuant to district practice: counselors — one to 450 pupils, or 90 counseling hours; psychologist — one to 1800 pupils; assistant principal-guidance — one to each 1000 pupils.

—What can be done to enhance the number of students gaining acceptance to four-year colleges?

Ans: We have a fine college-preparatory program in .... with a comparatively good percentage of our graduates going directly to four-year colleges. In our district and in the state more students will attend two-year institutions because of money and space problems. Many families cannot afford four-year colleges.

Franchise Is Lifted

draft a new CATV ordinance for consideration by the council next week, and the new ordinance will include some clauses not incorporated in the present regulations.

"The revised ordinance I intend to propose will contain a performance bond requirement," he said.

The attorney also said he intends to "investigate the matter of undergrounding the cables," and possibly include requirements in that area in the new ordinance.

The resolution revoking the CATV franchise allows the California Cable Communications Corporation "a reasonable time" to terminate activities in the city, and the firm's cables and other installations will presumably be transferred when another company takes over the franchise.

Opposition To Market Extension

along the route, construction of retaining walls and removal of some buildings.

William Chapman, project engineer, and county engineer Robert Sands said Monday the improvements are needed for the safety of school children in the area and "to handle the tremendous increase in traffic we expect when Guadalupe Canyon Parkway is connected with the Bayshore Freeway."

Sands and Chapman said current projections indicate traffic on the road will increase four-fold from the present 9,000 vehicles per day within the next few years, and Market Street is not adequate to handle the increase in its present condition.

Work on the project is scheduled to begin in about one year, according to current projections, and the improvements would be completed six months from that time.

In addition to the expected overload of traffic, the street is in need of improvement because of present inadequate drainage, according to the engineers.

The city's protion of the project is to be paid for with gas tax funds.

A number of property owners on the street, including Ricco Lagomarsino and Thomas J. Riordan, are opposed to the project because "it will have an adverse effect on property values and living conditions."

The property owners are objecting to the increase in traffic noise, the "unsightly" and dangerous retaining walls and the removal of lawn area which would be necessitated by the project.

Several of the residents suggested that the county should consider improving Hillside Boulevard between South San Francisco and Daly City as a "major connecting road" instead of the Guadalupe Canyon-Market Street route.

Jeff's Dubois Going to England

closed at Monday night's meeting of the Jefferson Union High School Board of Trustees.

Dubois, a Jefferson faculty member for eight years, is well known to teachers and administrators as an outspoken local offical of the American Federation of Teachers.

He explained that the Liverpool school is a government-supported Catholic boys' school, with students from 11 through 18 years of age—"upward bound in relation to college."

Dubois disclosed he will be one of 320 such exchange teachers in the U.S. this year under the Mutual Educational and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961 (the Fulbright-Hays Act).

Referring to his involvement in educational "politics," Dubois pointed out that all exchange teachers have been cautioned to "remain politically neutral" and not to "get involved."

"I don't think you'll see him (Fearon) as much as me," Dubois told trustees.

This interchange of teachers is to be effective during the 1968-69 school year. Dubois will receive a year's leave of absence with pay.

Dubois' exchange teacher will arrive in New York with others from Britain in August, according to a letter to Supt. Edward Morgan from Robert E. L. Crane, acting chief of the Teacher Exchange Branch of the Division of International Exchange and Training, U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare in Washington, D.C.

Seeks, Wins Scholarship

Motivated by a school notice on scholarships, senior Jackie Achille applied and won one. A scholarship of $250 was given by the Italian-Catholic Federation to Jackie who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Achille of 445 Eastmoor Ave., Daly City.

The basis for the scholarship was financial need, grades and extra-curricular activities.

Besides being studious, Jackie has been quite active around school. She is a member of Girl's Athletic Association, Drama Club and has been President of the International Friendship. Man Is Burned In Fire

A Pacifica man was burned Thursday night as he attempted to extinguish a fire in the bedroom of his children, fire department spokesmen said.

C. H. Hollander, 431 Del Mar, was treated for burns of the hands at Mary's Help Hospital after fire broke out in a closet off the children's bedroom.

Firemen said at least three of the family's chidlren were in the room when the fire started, but escaped safely and Mrs. Hollander was asleep in an adjoining bedroom.

Mrs. Hollander telephoned the fire department after being awakened by her husband.

The bedroom was gutted by flames, authorities said, and smoke damage throughout the house was "considerable." Damages totalled "more than $1,000," according to a department spokesman.

Hollander was released from the hospital after treatment.

Two units from the central fire station were on the scene for two hours, spokesmen said. One of the units was manned by volunteer firemen, who were in a meeting at the station when the fire was reported.

Later Thursday night, a fire broke out on the mezzanine floor of the Central Foods Market on Crespi Drive.

Authorities said the fire apparently started from strawberry containers stacked upon a stove.

The papier-mache boxes apparently caught fire from a pilot light of the range, firemen said.

Sprinkler systems flooded the building after the fire started, and damages were estimated at "several hundred dollars."

Suicide Try Thwarted At D.C. Beach

A San Francisco man's apparent suicide attempt at Thornton Beach in Daly City was thwarted Thursday by a ranger from the State beach facility who was taking a walk.

Daly City police said the ranger, Daniel Doonan of 374 Glenwood Drive, Daly City, found Peter Hontalas of 1660 Sacramento Street, San Francisco, unconscious in his car at 7:30 p.m.

Doonan told police patrolman Richard Sequine that he had been walking along Thornton Beach Road, when he saw the Hontales car parked on the southeastern side of the road, with its engine running.

There was a vacuum cleaner hose running from the exhaust pipe, and the other end of it was connected to a smaller hose that was inserted through the right rear window.

Hontalas appeared unconscious when the ranger turned off the car's ignition and removed the hose, Doonan said.

Coast Child Is Injured

A Pacifica child was hospitalized with a broken leg Wednesday after she ran into the path of an automobile on Arroyo Street.

Police said 5-year-old Nancy Hermann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Herman, 236 Arroyo, was taken to Mary's Help Hospital for treatment of a double leg fracture after the accident occurred at 4 p.m.

Officers said the child ran from behind a hedge in front of her home and into the path of a car driven by Thomas J. Milligan, a young sailor from Imperial Beach.

Milligan's vehicle was traveling at about 15 miles per hour when the accident occurred, police said.

The child is reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital.

Couple Wants Votes to Count

A Daly City couple served notice on County Clerk John A. Bruning on Friday that unless their write-in votes for Nelson Rockefeller on the Tuesday ballot are counted they will take him to court.

Bruning said it would not be legal to grant the demands of Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo A. Callejo of 4 Crestwood Drive. Their votes will not be counted, he said.

Callejo, a San Francisco lawyer, wrote Bruning a letter advising him that he and his wife stand ready to file a voting rights suit in the event Bruning sticks to his position that write-ins for presidential nominees or delegations to national conventions are not legally permissible. Mr. and Mrs. Callejo assert in their suit that the position is unconstitutional.

"At a time when the right to write-in a candidate for the primary election's most important office is vital to the future of every American and a great many other people the world over," the suit states, "We shall not permit party bosses, technicalities or other factors to deprive us of this vital right."

Bruning said write-ins for president are not permissible in California because voters do not vote for candidates directly, but for groups of delegates pledged to support particular candidates at national party conventions.

Tennis Class On Coastside

A new class has been opened for tennis instruction for the summer. The class is for boys and girls 8 to 15 years old. The class will begin on June 24 and will be at 3:30 p.m. on Monday and Wednesdays. The cost of the program is $3.50. Signup is at the Recreation Department office.

Girl Using Grant to Become Pilot

The Westmoor High School Parent-Teacher Association has recently awarded three $50 scholarships to aid Westmoor senior in continuing their formal education.

Jim Rozman and Diane Montelongo have both received scholarships to help with their Petropolous received her grant to aid her in becoming a commercial pilot.

Landscape gardener Jim has been a member of the Judo Team and the Auto Safety Club. Both during his woodshop classes and as a hobby, Jim has constructed a number of pieces of furniture. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Rozman of 758 Higate Drive, Jim also participates in Calvary Baptist Youth groups.

Diane served as vice-president of her freshman class at Presentation High School in San Francisco. She is a member of the Westside Teen Club. Hoping to become an English teacher, Diane has demonstrated her skill in college notetaking as she received the Gregg Shorthand Award for attaining the speed of 80 words per minute. Diane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Montelongo, who reside at 159 Edgemont Drive.

Paula's hopes of becoming a commercial pilot are bolstered by her extensive experience as a private pilot. She is a member of the Art Club, the G.A.A. and the Creative Writing Club. Outside of school, Paula, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew X. Petropoulous of 53 San Miguel Avenue, has been a member of the Greek Orthodox Youth Organization.

WINING D.C. ESSAYS

Rotary Honors Elementary Pupils

Alfred Belotz presented a $25 U.S. Savings Bonds to Wendy Amorose, fifth grade student at the M. Pauline Brown School, and to Rose Spiegel, student at the Ben Franklin School, for their award winning essays in the first Daly City Rotary essay writing contest.

Wendy Amorose's paper applied the four-way test slogan of Rotary International to daily living, human relations and international relationships.

Rose Spiegel's topic, "The Hippies, Victims of a Rat Race," gave advice to parents and teachers on how to prevent their own children from joining the movement. "It could happen to anyone and all are susceptible," she said.

Principals Sid Smith and Tom Notaro, along with the contestants, were guests of the club at its weekly luncheon meeting. Both principals praised the two young contestants.

Taking a note from the suggestions contained in Miss Spiegel's paper that suggests additional counseling for junior high school students, President Belotz, who is campaign chairman for the Jefferson Elementary School District tax election on July 30, said the students were "fine examples of American youth" and emphasized that both were "fine products of the excellent educational program being given in our local schools."

He urged the club members to support the tax election on July 30, so the schools would not find it necessary to curtail the program!

MISS AMOROSE WROTE:

"How truth, Fairness and Good Will Benefit the Lives of Others."

Truth: All men are created equal. If all men were truthful to one another we probably wouldn't be in Vietnam. Everyone would love the other person, no matter the color of their skin or the way they look. We wouldn't be unfriendly towards Russia and Russia wouldn't have many wars. Lying isn't the way out of anything. You have to tell the truth, no matter how painful. The chances are you would come out ahead. To be truthful is to be honest with your fellow man. You must also be honest with yourself. Truth IS reality!

Fairness: All men are created equal. Many times they will judge one another without fairness. Today some Negroes think that white men are bad and some white men think that Negroes are bad. During the summer of 1967 there were quite a few riots because the Negroes thought that the white men were not being fair. I think that if both white and Negro men were fairer towards each other, life for everyone would be much more civilized and humane.

Goodwill: All men are created equal. Everyone should have goodwill towards his fellow man. Goodwill to me means to have friendship towards others. America might be friendly towards Russia if each country showed goodwill. North Korea might be friendly towards South Korea if each showed more goodwill. Goodwill can be an example. If one child plays with a child that has a defect, maybe more will follow that child's good example. Our world needs more goodwill.

Benefits: All men are created equal. Each of us has faults; each has good characteristics. Some are more intelligent than others. Some are physically stronger than others. Some believe in God; some do not. Men come in all shapes and sizes. Their skin varies in color too. One thing is the same in all men and that is that everyone is a human being. Since all men are human beings they are capable of benefitting from the practice of truth, fairness and goodwill. We can all reap this wonderful harvest!

MISS SPIEGEL'S ESSAY:

The majority of American society is shocked and baffled about the hippies. They have wondered and formed opinions about the cause and solution of this problem. Many are afraid of this movement, but what are they doing to avoid it in their own homes?

Statistics show that most hippies come from middle-class or wealthier families. In such a household, the parents often become "too busy" and involved in the "rat race" to show love and affection to their children. They often try to replace love with material things, such as money, clothes, etc. This is a human mistake that many parents are making, although they are unaware of it.

The children in such a household start to look for love elsewhere. They find it coming from other children with the same problem. The hippie movement is made up of these neglected children. They claim they want love for mankind, but what they really want is the love they missed at home.

People shouldn't hide from this problem. They should never say, "My child would never be a hippie!" They should face the fact that the problem is here and every teen-ager, regardless of how nice, smart or sensible he is, is susceptible in the right situation.

Parents should spend more time, not money, with their children. They should listen and try to understand what their children are saying before they criticize, regardless of how foolish they sound. Then, they should offer advice in a friendly manner.

Parents should never say anything is right or wrong without giving good reasons for it.

School should include a discussion directed by an experienced counselor every week.

Here everyone can share his problems with a wise adult, and others his age with the same problems.

These are a few ways the problems that cause the hippie movement can be avoided and the ones that exist now remedied.

Congregation Drama Show

The Men's Club of Congregation B'nai Israel, Colma, announced that tickets are available for the presentation of "West Side Story."

The Leonard Bernstein musical will be performed by the Drama Group of Congregation Beth Israel at the War Memorial Building, 6655 Mission Street, Daly City, beginning at 8 p.m., June 15th.

Donation is $1.25 per person.

A reception in honor of the cast and crew will be held at the congregation immediately following the show.

Proceeds of the event will benefit the youth groups of the congregation.

Dr. Harry Green Wins S.F.S. Award

Dr. Harry B. Green of Daly City, a professor of art and education at San Francisco State College, is among the members of the faculty there to receive the Distinguished Teaching Award for the year.

Dr. Donald Garrity of Daly City, vice president for Academic Affairs at the college, announced Green's selection this week.

Green, 62, who lives at 186 Westdale Avenue, Daly City, was selected from the School of Creative Arts. He has been at San Francisco State since 1939, and in connection with his art studies, has traveled widely during his tenure at the college to acquire students.

Dr. Green is retiring this semester.

Dr. Garrity pointed out that the award to each school and division is for $500.

This is the third year that funds for the awards have been allotted by the State Legislature and the California Sate Colleges trustees. The awards, said Dr. Garrity, are leading to a series of publications of manuscripts and materials submitted by the winning members of the faculties of the state colleges.

Westlake Center Vacation Show Set Next Week

The world of travel and outdoor recreation will be spread out before Westlake Shopping Center visitors June 19-22, when the shopping center stages its Vacation Show for 1968.

Several awards — including the top award by Berry World Travel, Inc.—will be given free to shoppers.

First prize is two vacations to Hawaii, via World Airways jetliner.

Other key awards are an all-expense Flamingo Hotel fling in Las Vegas, via TWA, and a Disneyland vacation, via Pacific Southwest Airlines. All are for two persons.

There will also be 40 Lufthansa Airlines cosmetic and overnight bags (for men and women) given away.

The Westlake show is under the auspices of The Westlake Panorama Travel Service and the Westlake Merchants Association.

There is no admission charge.

Beginning June 19, the Vacation Show will be open daily from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. The show will end Saturday afternoon at 5:30.

All a shopper need do to be eligible for one of the Vacation Show awards is to visit any Westlake Shopping Center store and receive a free Vacation Show ticket. No purchase is required. Ticket depositories will be located in the mall area. Tickets will be available in Westlake stores next Monday.

A free drawing will be held June 21 at 9:15 p.m. on the mall.

No winners will be allowed under the age of 18 years. Winners need not be present.

The show will offer the first Northern California showing of the new lines of airstream trailers, campers, camping busses, motor homes, plus many of the major air line carrier booths, exhibits and information centers.

PLASTIC LINER

Wipe dresser drawers occasionally with a cloth wrung out of soap or detergent suds, and rinse with a clean damp cloth. Use plastic sheeting to line drawers made of polished wood; this assures that the wood is snag-proof.

DRY METHOD

To scour a greasy sink, try this dry-cleaning method: apply soap or detergent to a dry cloth or sponge, and scrub the sink — also dry. Then, turn on the hot water and rinse the grease away.

NELL NORTON

(Sugar 'n Spice)

Good morning, good cooks.

Vacation time is here and while it would be delightful to be planning a trip around the world or two months at some plush resort, most of us will spend the greater part of the vacation at home. And from experience we know that the first delirious days of freedom, out little darlings are going to be tired of just being home and "having nothing to do."

Well, if any of your little darlings are girls, you can start them on baking cookies. And the boys in the family will be more than glad to sample the results of the girls' baking endeavors.

These vanilla wafers are delicious, easy to make and the return on your efforts are great, about seven dozen.

VANILLA WAFERS

- one and one-third cup butter
- 1¼ cup sugar
- 2 teas. vanilla
- 2 eggs
- 2½ cups sifted flour
- 2 teas. baking powder
- ¾ cup nonfat dry milk
- ¼ cup water

Cream the one and one-third cups butter; blend in the one and one-fourth cups sugar and two teaspoons vanilla. Add the two unbeaten eggs and beat thoroughly. Sift together the two and one half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, three-fourths cup nonfat dry milk. Sift twice to mix well. Add to the creamed mixture alternately with the one-fourth cup water. Drop by teaspoonfuls on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in 350-degree oven, 12 to 15 minutes.

Let the cookies cool on the pan for a few minutes before removing to racks to cool.

STRICTLY SPEAKING these next cookies are not baked, just mixed, fixed and set in the refrigerator to firm up. If your sons want to try their hand at cooking, let them start off with this cookie that is a lot like candy.

PERFECTION COOKIES

- ¼ cup butter (1 cube)
- ½ cup cocoa
- one and three-fourths cup sugar
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup peanut butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1½ cups quick oats

In a large pan combine the one-fourth pound butter, one-half cup cocoa, one and three-fourths cup sugar and one-half cup milk. Mix well and cook over medium heat until the mixture comes to a boil. Boil only 2½ minutes, (Set your timer to be exact about this.) and remove immediately from heat. Stir in the one teaspoon vanilla and one-half cup peanut butter, blend well and add the one and one-half cups quick oats. Drop from teaspoon onto buttered baking sheets. Set in refrigerator to harden. Makes about 48 cookies.

Now, speaking as the voice of experience, this candy and oatmeal combination sets up pretty fast, so you really don't drop them. You mold them with two spoons onto the buttered baking sheet. (An assist from your fingers helps.) If you find that the mixture is getting hard, stir in a few drops of hot water.

Actually, this is the simpliest recipe ever. It took just about twenty minutes to make the cookies, so don't let the extra directions scare you away.

BACK TO BAKING COOKIES. These drop cookies are tasty and the chocolate dots on top make them mighty attractive, too.

CHOCOLATE TWIN DOTS

- ½ cup dates
- ¼ cup water
- 1 package chocolate bits, 6 oz.
- 1½ cups sifted flour
- 1 teas. salt
- ½ teas. soda
- ¾ cup shortening
- 1½ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 egg, unbeaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ½ cup quick cooking oats
- 1 cup raisins
- ½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar.
- ½ cup nuts, finely chopped

Cut the one-half cup dates fine and simmer in the one-fourth cup water until soft, two to three minutes. Cool. Melt two-thirds of the package of chocolate bits over hot water. (Reserve the remaining one-third package.)

Sift together the one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon soda. Blend together the three-fourths cup shortening and one and one-half cups brown sugar, creaming well. Add the one egg and one teaspoon vanilla. Blend in the melted chocolate and beat well. Mix in the sifted dry ingredients gradually and stir in the one-half cup oats, one cup raisins, and cooled dates. Chill to facilitate handling.

Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls into sifted confectioners' sugar. Coat thoroughly with sugar and form into balls. Dip tops into chopped nuts and place on greased baking sheets. Press two chocolate bits into the top of each cookie. Bake in 375-degree oven, 10 to 12 minutes. Cool one minute before removing from baking sheets. Cool thoroughly and store in tightly covered container. Makes about five dozen cookies.

LAST SUNDAY I was baking and decided to experiment. The result is delicious and since it's made from a mix, and good cook in your family would enjoy baking it.

ANISE SEED CAKE

- 1 box. French Vanilla cake mix
- 4 eggs
- 1 pkg. vanilla instant pudding
- 2-3 cup oil
- 2-3 cup water
- 1½ teas. anise seed

In a large mixing bowl combine the cake mix, four eggs, two-thirds cup each oil and water, package vanilla pudding and one and one-half teaspoons anise seed. Blend well and then beat for three minutes at medium speed. Bake in greased, floured tube pan in 350-degree oven for one hour. No frosting needed, just sift powdered sugar over top.

Preparing For the Exodus

LOUANNE HEATH'S DATEBOOK

GRADUATION WEEK has finally arrived!

Summer vacation is just hours away for hundreds of youngsters. Families all over the Peninsula re readying themselves for the annual exodus to the country.

Clubs and organizations of all types are winding up their activity calendars, offering formal words of thanks to faithful officers who are completing their terms in office and in general there is an air of relaxation as preparations to disband, temporarily, are completed.

For the second consecutive summer, while the local social whirl is in limbo, this space will be devoted to profiling outstanding members of the graduating classes of Jefferson, Oceana, Terra Nova and Westmoor. The girls you will be reading about during the weeks ahead have been selected by the administration in their respective schools for their fine grades, and their general contributions to their classes and their school. I am sure you will be pleased to learn what responsible and delightful people most of today's teenagers are!

In the meantime, on with what has been happening and what is going on now.

MRS. FRANK KELCHEVA, Mrs. Arthur St. Peter, Mrs. William George, and Mrs. Richard Powell of the nominating committee of the Friends of the Library, were the hostesses when the new and the retiring officers of that group were honored recently with a tea in the home of Mrs. Vinton Stratton.

In addition to the new and retiring officers the committee was honoring special guests Mrs. Andrew Hanselman, Samuel Chandler and Robert Roy.

Incoming officers are Mrs. William George who will succeed Mrs. Lincoln Walters, the outgoing president; Mrs. Raymond Milton who will fill Mrs. George's former post as vice president and Mrs. Powell, recording secretary; Mrs. George Windhurst, treasurer; Mrs. Winsor Josselyn, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Don Monson, Mrs. Richard Coltrell, Mrs. Ronald Bates and Robert Evans, the new members of the board of directors.

NEXT WEDNESDAY is the date selected by the members of the Westlake Senior Citizens Club for their annual picnic at the Samuel Taylor Park.

The bus will leave from the club's meeting hall at 9 a.m. and will return to Westlake between 4:30 p.m. and 5 o'clock.

Today the membership will be entertained by Billy Grant and his wife who have considerable experience as stage, vaudeville and television performers.

MR. AND MRS. WILLARD WAGNER celebrated their fifty-third wedding anniversary Friday with a quiet observance of the date. Wagner, who observed his 78th birthday recently, is still recovering from a coronary attack which hospitalized him for a time.

ARE THERE ANY contraltos in the audience?

The North County Choraliers from the Jefferson Union High School Adult education Music Department will continue to meet during the summer months to prepare for performances scheduled for early fall and a Christmas season special for television. According to Mrs. Patti Parks Stolz new voices are welcomed in all sections but there is a special need for contraltos.

If you have vocal talent, and would like to join, contact the Choraliers secretary at 992-2913.

PACIFICA'S PAINTING Hegedus family, Pete, Connie and youthful Andrew, are having a show entitled Drawings, Paintings and Things in the Periwinkle Gallery in Sharp Park.

It is a charming show and one you shouldn't miss! The gallery is open Wednesdays through Sundays and the show will run until June 30.

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD of the Art Guild of Pacifica will meet in the home of Mrs. Lillian Neathery on Monday, June 24 at 8 p.m.

THE MEMBERSHIP of Lakeside Presbyterian Church has invited Allan Lyman Sturtevant to assume the duties of assistant pastor commencing June 15.

Sturtevant is a June graduate of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. His previous education includes a bachelor of science degree from Waynesburg College in Pennsylvania and a master in business administration from the University of California at Berkeley.

During his seminary days he has been a counsellor at juvenile hall and participated in a special training program at the Pacific Presbyterian Medical Center of counselling with persons who are hospitalized and their families.

From 1965 to 1966 his seminary assigned field work was in Lakeside Church. Since that time he has been a volunteer leader as a church school teacher, adult study group leader and teacher recruiter for the church school.

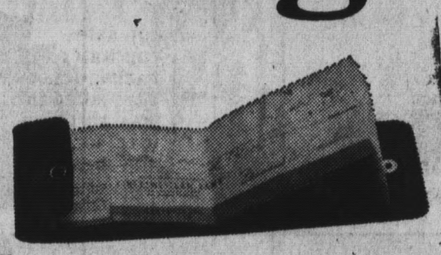
Something for nothing.



Free checking account when you get your car loan from us.

This is your big chance to steal from a bank. Get your car loan here (minimum $1000) and get a personal checking account, with no service charge at all for the length of the car loan. That comes to about $30 a year saved in those blasted service charges alone.

That's the least of it. An even greater saving is on the car loan itself. Dealing with the bank direct, there's no middleman, no markup on finance charges. You can save from 1% to 3% interest. (Depends on whether the car is new or used, how much you put down, etc.) Say you save 1½%. That may not sound whopping, but figure it out on a $3800 car, with $1300 down, on a 36-month loan. You save $112.50 cold cash. Now do you see why it's worth looking us up in the phone book and coming on in?

Yes-men. We push car loans hard, we pare the interest way down, we have every reason to say "Yes" when you apply. After all, we'd never get anywhere sitting around saying "No" to people.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By DONALD C. WAITE

THE IMPORTANCE OF A "BAR" IN YOUR HOME

Let me say at the beginning that a "bar" does not necessarily mean a liquor cabinet, because it may be equally useful for soft drinks.

But whether you serve cocktails or Cokes or both, the importance of a place to store and serve drinks must be recognized as part of the way of life in modern social living.

Many homes and apartments have a built-in breakfast bar between kitchen and dinette. For those who do not have this convenience, here are a few of the many ways you can be a charming host or hostess:

1. There are many portable tea or snack wagons or carts to fit every decor and budget.
2. Your buffet or credenza, especially if it has a plastic top, makes an excellent service bar and will leave room for party snacks, too.
3. One of the cleverest bars I saw was in a home that had a living room closet which the owners converted into a snack bar by removing the closet door.
4. many commode type occasional tables may double for a bar.
5. For small apartments, a small hanging wall cabinet may be used.
6. If you are unable to work any of these ideas, you can select from the many fine liquor cabinets and bars, with or without barstools, which are available.

EL CAMINO AT 38th AVE., S.M., OPEN MON. and FRI. NITES

AWARD TO TOP student was made yesterday by Dr. Donald Garrity of Daly City to Linda Dominge of South San Francisco.

First Graduated, Then Is Married

Both beautiful and brainy, a 21-year-old co-ed from South San Francisco, Linda Dominge, living at 641 Theresa Drive, was graduated with honors from San Francisco State College and on the following day was wed to a fellow South San Franciscan Mark Avelar, 21.

Graduation was Friday at the Cow Palace in Daly City.

Linda represented the School of Business at the Lake Merced College. She maintained a high grade point average through her college career. Linda was graduated in 1964 at the El Camino High School of South San Francisco. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Dominge of 641 Teresa Drive.

Linda works at the college in the office of the vice president for academic affairs, Dr. Donald L. Garrity of Daly City, who also officiated at the graduation ceremony. She plans to continue working there following her marriage.

The bridegroom was graduated recently at the University of San Francisco. He will continue his studies to acquire a teaching credential.

The graduation exercises brought more than 1,100 students into cap and gown for the event. Those eligible to participate amounted to more than 4,500 — a record number — representing last year's summer session, the fall semester, and the 2,831 candidates for June. More than 1,100 receive their masters degrees.

The new San Francisco State Pesident Dr. Robert R. Smith participated in the event.

The main address was delivered by Justice Stanley Mosk of the California Supreme Court discussing "Sixteen Years to 1984."

S.S.F. Crash, Man Injured

A Campbell man was injured early last Friday when he lost control of his car and crashed into a utility pole on El Camino Real in South San Francisco.

Police said Don Hutchison, 868 Sweetbriar Drive, Campbell, was alone in his car when he "missed a curve" and struck a pole near the intersection of El Camino Real and Hickey Boulevard about 12:30 a.m.

He was treated for bruises and lacerations at Mary's Help Hospital, and later released.

Mail Stolen From Bag In Daly City

Theft of two bundles of mail from a letter carrier's mailbag was reported to Daly City police by postal authorities Thursday.

A spokesman for the Daly City post office located at 1100 Sullivan Avenue, said two suspects, who later fled in a blue-colored car, are believed to have taken the mail from a bag near 121 Park Plaza Drive shortly before noon.

4 Win Writing Honors At Terra Nova Dinner

Three seniors and a sophomore took top writing honors last week at the annual Terra Nova Journalism Awards Banquet at Meiggs Wharf Restaurant in San Francisco.

Seniors Maria Montenegro, Maxine Leibowitz and Greg Beeman, all repeat winners, and sophomore Bob Kennedy, were adjudged by a combined vote of their journalism teacher, Loue Pacini, and their staff peers as having written the best editorial, feature, news and sports stories, respectively.

Miss Montenegro, Stanford bound Editor-in-Chief of Tiger Tales, the Terra Nova quarterly news magazine, won her award for an editorial in the senior edition of the magazine outlining the reasons for a hard stand taken by the administration on the annual "Senior Cut Day." Miss Montenegro was a co-winner with Miss Leibowitz last year in the news category on a collaboration concerning what the authors called, "Pacifica's recreation wasteland." Miss Montenegro is a former Post columnist, and won the Times award as Most Valuable Staffer.

Miss Leibowitz, assistant to the editor and headed for Cal next fall, won her feature award for a story specifically relating the frightening prospects of venereal disease to teen-agers. The same story won Miss Leibowitz an Honorable Mention in the feature category of the recent San Francisco Press Club Journalism Award competition against a field of more than 300 entries.

Beeman's outstanding news story, ironical in that he was the TN feature editor, was an overwhelming winner. It dealt with teen-age marijuana problems and myths. Last year Beeman won the TN feature award with a story concentrating on the history and effects of narcotics. Beeman, who will be attending San Francisco State, also won a San Francisco Press Club Hnorable Mention on the strength of this story.

Seabees Join In To Aid Boys' Club

Navy Seabees of reserve naval construction battalion division 12-1, stationed at U.S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, Treasure Island, began work on a goodwill project at the South San Francisco Boys Club last weekend. The project consists of the construction of a 48 foot by 30 foot building that will be used for indoor recreation.

Scheduled for completion on that weekend were site preparation and the building foundations. On succeeding weekends other area Navy Seabees may continue construction of the structure in conjunction with local civilian-donated labor.

Goodwill projects like this are common among the Seabees throughout the United States. They are a vital link between the U.S. Navy and civilian population.

Commanding officer of CB Division 12-1 is Cdr. W. L. Perkins, Civil Engineer Corp, USNR-R of Palo Alto.

The following local men are engaged in the project:

Lt. R. A. Easton, Training Officer, 398 Grunion Ct., Foster City; ECH3 H A. Crowhurst, 160 First Avenue, Daly City; ECH2 V L. Davis, 1020 Clinton St., Redwood City; EOCS R. Kiwanis Hail S.S.F. Officer John Bowes

The South San Francisco Kiwanis Club saluted Patrolman John Bowes, 28, as the Policeman of the Month for June.

"Police personnel are educating themselves," he told the Kiwanis meeting. "Over half of our department have college degrees or are working for them."

Officer Bowes, who works the graveyard shift in a patrol car, stressed that law enforcement today is not only interested in upholding and enforcing the law, but in preventing crime.

"We can be more effective this way," he explained. "We are working for you . . . and we want to get to know you better because we are a part of the community. We must not only keep open the channels of communications with the minority, but with the majority."

A native of the Industrial City, Patrolman Bowes has been a member of the force for 16 months, previously in the police reserves for 22 months. He and his wife, Barbara, live in Sunshine Gardens with their two children.

BERT COLE DID A LOT

And Got Along With Cobb!

"WHY INTERVIEW ME," said retired San Matean Bert Cole, "I never did anything."

Not much. He won 29 games in the Pacific Coast League when it was considered by many to be a third major league, got traded to the majors for an entire team, beat Walter Johnson in his first major league game, put in six seasons in the big time when it was replete with "immortals," and — perhaps most amazing of all — got along with Ty Cobb.

Cole, a stylish left hander in his day, was raised in San Francisco's Sunset District, attended Lowell High and worked out at the fabled Golden Gate Park with the likes of Willie Kamm, Joe Cronin and Harry Heilmann.

He was originally signed for the Seals by Charley Graham in 1920, and shipped out to Tacoma, where in the tough lower minor league he won 24 games in a brief four-month tour.

Called up to the Seals at the tail end of the season he won four straight, including a victory in the rarified, homerun producing atmosphere of Salt Lake, where Bert figures he proved ignorance is bliss. He didn't know until informed by teammates after the game that because of the light air, Salt Lake was the most dreaded pitcher's park in baseball.

Bert became Graham's first big league "sale" the next season, antidating even the legendary $100,000 peddling of Kamm two years later. Uncle Charley got none players for Bert (one of them, Bert Ellison, later managed the Seals), which, as far as can be determined, is an all-time baseball record.

NO ROOKIE ever broke in tougher than Cole. His first assignment was against Walter Johnson, and he beat the Big Train, 5-1 (only one of the runs off Johnson was earned). Although then 33 and with most of his great seasons behind him, Johnson ("A great guy, always protected the umpires") was still, in Bert's estimation, blinding fast. When Cole commented on this after the game, Ty Cobb, in his first year as Detroit's manager, said, "You should have seen him when he was fast."

Cole got along wonderfully with Cobb. His only complaint is that Cobb "robbed" him of his best pitch, a sharp overhand curve, a "drop."

"Ty had a mania for fastball pitchers," Cole says. "He told me that unless I developed my fast one better, I wouldn't pitch for him. Well, I did develop a good fast ball, but Cobb had me concentrating on that so much, I lost my good drop."

Cole was back in the minors with the San Francisco Missions in 1926, when he won 29 games with what he feels was one of the finest minor league clubs ever put together. They were so far ahead of the pack at mid-season, that league officials, in a panic over an anticipated drop in attendance, decided to split the season in hopes that a new start would boost fan interest. That practice lasted for several seasons.

The Missions outfield, recalls Cole, was especially fabulous, with Ike Boone, Evar Swanson, and Fuzzy Huft.

Swanson was unbelievably swift. He still holds the all-time record for circling the bases — 13.3. A time of 14 flat is considered exceptional.

"On almost anything hit to the outfield except flies down the line," chuckles Bert, "Ike and Fuzzy would yell, 'Take it, Evar.' "

ON THE BASIS of his great season with the Reds, Cole was sold to the Chicago White Sox in 1927, but ran into an outstanding pitching staff headed by Ted Lyons, Red Faber and Tommy Thomas.

Bert was undefeated in spring training, but the Sox staff was so strong that he didn't get a start until late May.

He returned to the Missions the next year for several seasons, finished up with the Seals under Lefty O'Doul ("Good manager, great handler of men"), and then turned to umpiring in the Coast League in the '30's.

"It was a great experience but a tough job," says Bert, who later went into the plywood business.

"Probably my most gratifying experience was working with Jack "King" Powell, the legendary Coast League ump, when I was a rookie. He was a great character, a great ump, and absolutely fearless."

Bert tells of the time Powell made a call behind the plate at Layne Field in San Diego to which the hometown fans took such umbrage that they began laying a barrage of beer bottles down on him. Powell merely folded his arms and stood his gound, glaring into the stands at the angry fans.

Cole, trying to come to his rescue, pleaded with him to, if he wouldn't leave the field, at least duck.

"What for," bellowed Powell, "Those fans haven't got any better control than that clown out on the mound."

Cole doesn't live in the past. Kids from all over the country still write asking him for autographs and pictures ("I don't know how they get my name"). He feels that there are more good players today than when he played, but that there were more and better quality "super stars" in his time.

Sandy Koufax, though, would have stood up with the greatest of them, and so would Juan Marichal, Cole says, if Juan would ever decide to get healthy.

"There's never been a pitcher with such a variety of pitches and with so many deliveries that he could control. Marichal's uncanny. Howard Ehmke, the great Athletics' World Series hero, could throw from as many angles, but not nearly with Marichal's control."

BERT DOES THINK that catchers in his era threw better, and that there was more sign stealing. He also thinks radio announcers make too much of keeping the ball low.

"Some of the greatest pitchers of all time have been high ball pitchers," says Cole.

He also can't understand the sudden rage over the slider, as if it were a great new discovery.

"It's an old pitch. A lot of guys threw it. Dutch Leonard had probably the best one. But he called it a "little curve,' or a 'nickel curve.' "

And umpires today are much more stringent in their watchdogging of the spitter than they were when Cole pitched (the spitter had been banned in 1920).

"Why, we couldn't even rub the ball too hard. It was all because of Babe Ruth. The owners were making plenty of money on his homeruns, and they didn't want any smart aleck pitchers figuring out ways to stop them coming."

Cobb and Ruth were antithetical, personally and professionally. Cobb had been in a class by himself, but Ruth created another class.

"Babe wasn't just fantastically strong," says Cole, "but he also had amazing reflexes. There wasn't a pitcher born who could consistently put a fast ball by him. And you never fooled him twice on the same pitch. He'd look foolish on a certain pitch one time up, and if you game it to him the next time, he'd lose it."

Cole thinks Ruth may have been the greatest hitter of all time, pointing out his .342 lifetime batting average along with the homers.

"A lot of people don't realize it, but when a single meant the game, the Babe could slap them out with the best of them. He used to 'punch' me, hit to the opposite field."

But Ruth did hit a homer off Cole which Bert said is easily the longest ball anyone ever hit off him, a dubious distinction shared by many pitchers. Cole was essentially a low ball pitcher, but Cobb, a notoriously bad handler of pitchers, insisted, for some obscure reason, on Bert pitching Ruth high.

Cole pitched him a high one in Detroit one day that the Babe hit through the box. It went over Cole's head and kept soaring. At that time the Detroit center field fence was 480 feet away, and had standing in front of it a 90-foot flag pole. The ball went over the flag pole.

When Bert got to the dugout after the inning, in a fit of pix he threw his glove into the bench.

Cobb didn't like it, perhaps feeling that Cole might be trying to show him up. "What in bell's the matter with you," Cobb shouted.

"Nothing," said Cole, "except I'll never pitch Ruth high again."

THE VEXED AND equally frustrated Cobb grumbled, "Pitch him any damn way you want," thus loading the formidable problem back of Cole's shoulders.

"What power that guy had," reminisces Cole. "I'll never forget when they put the second deck on Comisky Field. I was talking to the architect one day, and he told me that with the deck nobody would ever again hit a ball out of the stadium.

"The next team in town was the Yankees. Tommy Thomas was pitching for us and the first time up, Babe strikes out. The second time up he hits it out of the stadium. The architect was never seen around the park again."

Ruth, as everybody knows, was also an overgrown, good-natured, prank-playing kid, which was probably why even today he is the very embodiment of baseball.

He and Harry Heilmann were among the many stars, of course, who hit the post banquet circuit, and Babe often found himself on the same bill as Heilmann. Babe hardly ever knew what he was going to say until he got to the podium, but the more deliberate Heilmann had a standard speech which he used at banquet after banquet. It was a good speech, and he had it polished to perfection.

Ruth heard it so often that he knew it by heart. One night he was called on to speak first, and suddenly realized that he hadn't the faintest notion of what he was going to say. So he gave Heilmann's speech!

Babe got an ovation and took his bows gracefully, leaving the blustering Heilmann literally speechless.

ONE TIME IN CHICAGO some of the Yankees decided to retaliate for Ruth's continuous pranks and instructed the batboy to leave Babe in the on-deck circle with only the lead-loaded warmup bat.

The boy did as he was told, and when the Babe realized what was happening, instead of trotting back to the dugout to get a regulation bat, as had been planned, he let out a loud laugh and, without breaking stride, went to the plate and promptly proceeded to slap one of Sarge Connally's serves over the left field wall. And laughed so hard going around the bases that he almost didn't make it home.

Ruth did everything expansively: hitting, eating, spending.

Bert recalls the night the Tigers and Yankees were waiting at the same station for an overdue train. Ruth had his golf clubs and a newly purchased box of golf balls, the best money could buy at the time.

Babe was a restless soul, so decided to kill the monotony. It was an outside train depot, so he carefully lined up every new ball, took out his driver, and, before the bugged eyes of two teams of men, many of whom saw in a box of new golf balls at least something like a new pair of shoes, methodically hit every ball out into the night, to the accompaniment of his own hardy chuckles of approval.

All games in the co-recreational league will be played on Tuesday nights at the War Memorial Community Center and-or Wesetmoor High School.

Game days for the men's league have not been determined, and will depend on the number of sign-ups taken.

An organizational meeting for all team managers or representatives for all volleyball teams (men's or mixed) has been set for June 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the Recreation Department's conference room, 134 Hillside Boulevard.

Purpose of this meeting will be to discuss rules, regulations, fees, etc.

THE DEPARTMENT is also taking sign-ups for its 1968 Summer Adult Three-Man Hunch Basketball League, open to all men 18 years of age and over. It will run for approximately 10 weeks, with league play beginning the first week in July.

All games will be played on Monday nights at the War Memorial Community Center and-or Westmoor High School.

An entrance fee of $10 per team will be charged to cover cost of awards.

REGISTRATIONS for the Summer Teen Co-Recreational Volleyball League which is scheduled to begin the first week in July are being received.

This league is open to all boys and girls between the ages of 13-18 who live in Daly City or attend school in Daly City and live elsewhere.

Playing teams consist of three boys and three girls, however, 12 players can be carried on a team roster.

An entrance fee of $10 per team will be charged to cover the cost of awards and must be submitted with a completed roster to the Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Boulevard, no later than June 21. Acceleration, Enrichment Key at S.S.F. Summer School

Summer school registration in the South San Francisco Unified District show an increasing interest in acceleration and enrichment.

Acceleration courses are designed to allow pupils an opportunity to meet requirements and open their regular school program to electives. The enrichment courses offer the students a chance to enjoy opportunities not usually available during the school year.

Registrations are still being accepted for courses described below as "probable." The "Probable" courses need more registrations before they can be "certain."

The seventh through ninth grade program will be held at Parkway Junior High School. The tenth through twelfth grade program will be conducted at El Camino High School.

The senior high program includes enrichment courses in Arts and Crafts, Dressmaking and Design, Personal Use Typing, Space Science, and Office Practice. The senior high acceleration courses include World History II, Safety Education, Chemistry, Biology, English III, and U.S. History.

STEVE McBRIDE

MARY REGAL

Cheerleader And Wrestler Honored

Cheerleader Mary Regal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Regal, of 150 Santa Paula, and wrestler Steve McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. McBride, of 961 Higate, have been named "Outstanding Senior Girl and Boy" of Westmoor High School.

Having been active in school and class activities throughout her four years at Westmoor, Mary starred as a freshman in a Westmoor production of "Cinderella." In addition she was an Associated Arts Club member in her first high school year.

As a sophomore, Mary first became a Westmoor cheerleader. She was re-elected in both her junior and senior years and has served as a varsity cheerleader for two years.

During her sophomore year Mary was Westmoor's representative on the Emporium's High Teen Board.

Mary traveled to Davis just after her junior year to represent Westmoor at Girls State.

For all four of her Westmoor years, Mary has worked for her class making signs and buttons and helping plan and carry out Spirit Week.

Mary has been a member of the California Scholarship Federation and recently received the Elks Club Youth Leadership award. She plans to attend both CSM and Rudolph Scheller School of Design.

Steve McBride has, through his consistent high grades, obtained life membership in the California Scholarship Federation.

In addition, Steve has been active in Westmoor sports, becoming league champion wrestler in his 191-pound weight class this year, and being chosen to represent the Bay Area in the AAU National Wrestling Championship in Lincoln, Neb. Besides his wrestling skills, Steve has excelled in football, achieving All-League and All-County status on both defensive and offensive teams, as well as "Lineman of the Year."

Steve was one of four students representing Westmoor in a recent mathematics competition in San Luis Obispo. A member of the Math and Science Clubs, Steve was awarded the Bank of America Certificate in Science, this year.

Steve has received a California Undergraduate Scholarship in forestry and Oustanding Senior Award, from the California Savings and Loan League.

Although accepted and given Honors-at-Entrance at the University of California, Berkeley, Steve will probably continue his education at the College of San Mateo where he will study forestry, an interest he found as a result of two summers of work at a logging company.

It is anticipated by school officials that the entire process will be concluded by approximately 11 a.m.

The testing is necessary so youngsters can be correctly programmed.

The schedule for that morning includes assignment of classes for the Fall semester.

By 1976, the number of foreigners visiting the United States will total 16 million—compared with under nine million in 1967.

Fine Arts Panel Is Proposed

South San Francisco Councilman Frank Mammini this week proposed the formation of a new city commission to "encourage and support the fine arts."

Under Mammini's proposal, a special commission appointed by the council would work to bring theatrical productions, symphony performances and exhibitions of the graphic arts to the city.

Mayor Frank Bertucelli and other council members approved Mammini's proposal "in principle" Monday, but asked that the matter be submitted to the city's recreation commission members for their consideration before taking formal action.

Miammini said the council wil probably appoint a group as a temporary committee initially, rather than a formal commission.

"If we find that the initial committee is effective, I will then again enter a proposal for creation of the formal commission," Mammini said.

Awards Presented At Westmoor High

Westmoor's eleventh Annual Awards Assembly was held May 30, in the school gym. Following this presentation, all parents, teachers, and graduating seniors were invited to the Senior Reception in Westmoor's cafeteria.

Richard Coltrell, principal of Westmoor, opened the first non-mandatory Awards Assembly by swearing into office the fall 1968 student body officers and by presenting the Spring 1968 officers their pins for all the work they had put into student government in the past semester. Next on the agenda the two valedictorians were honored and presented with Reader's Digest subscriptions.

Senior class adviser, Robert Blancke, followed Coltrell in giving recognition to the outstanding senior boy, girl, and service. He also named the student who is to speak at graduation.

Scholarships and honorariums of the class of 1968 were then presented by Westmoor's assistant principal and instructor, Clayton Kollmann. Such organizations as the Daly City Rotary Club, California State Scholaruhip, and Westmoor's P-TA composed the lists of groups granting scholarships to the students.

The 15 life members of the California Scholarship Federation received acknowldgements for their consistent excellent grades. Miss Jennie Gates, math teacher and CSF adviser, named these honor students. Two senior boys were then presented by Blancke an Invest in America Certificate.

Not only did seniors receive honors at the assembly, but othar students too. Mrs. Geroge Sivon, Junior class adviser, presented Girls' State and Boys' State awards, Jastro summer scholarship, Nations Inc., summer workshop scholarship, and International Friendship Club Summer Abroad Program to the juniors.

Mrs. Judy Peterson, class of 1970 adviser, presented an Invest in America Scholarship to a sophomore, while Miss Rosemary Henson, 1971 class adviser presented a Junior Achievement award to a freshman.

Each of the department heads gave out awards, specific scholarships, plaques, and named those elected membership in the Hall of Fame. Miss Gaylore Tyau presented honors to business students, Lee Doyle presented honors to English students; Peter Zacheriou presented awards to the yearbook staff; Robert Nissen awarded the outstanding fine art students; John Milton presented awards to the foreign language students, and Larry Carlson presented awards to the industrial arts students.

Homemaking awards were given out by Mrs. Marge Rossander; mathemathics by Vern Curtis; physical education by Tony Giammona and Miss Barbara Bosio; social science by Dexter Leland, and science by Erling Logan.

Commencing this ceremony, Coltrell presented Westmoor's P-TA gift of $50 to the library. Accepting for the school was Steve Seager, senior class president.

After the assembly, all were invited to the Senior Reception, where various enticing cakes and candies, coffee and punch awaited them. Prepared solely by the cafeteria workers under the instruction of Mrs. Anne Barreto were fudge brownies, gaily decorated pettifores, colorfully iced butterfly and ice cream cupcakes, mint swirls, tortes, irch coffee toffee bars, and strawberry and lemon tarts.

The Reaction Against...

1. Guns

2. Violence

(COLUMNIST Frank LaPierre is vacationing. Writing for him this week is another Post staff member, Don Grierson.—Editor)

THE CURRENT REACTION against guns and violence in America, though understandable and commendable in theory, has spawned a movement which could produce a tragic situation for the next generation of young people.

In the long view, the advisability of preaching non-violence, peace and the brotherhood of man to a generation of children who will have to exist in the same harsh and vicious world as we who grew up with the gun, is doubtful.

The Haight-Ashbury is peopled with children who were weened on such platitudes, only to find themselves thrown into a world which bears little resemblance to what one would expect from a society that pays lip service to such lofty ideals.

Though it is apparently an attrative idea for most parents, the responsibility for changing the world DOES NOT lie with the children, but with those who have shaped the scheme of things as they are.

Before preparing children for a life in Utopia, it would behoove us all to first assure that Utopia exists.

A WORLD WITHOUT WAR and violence, if not impossible, appears at this point at best highly unlikely. Certainly, there is little to indicate that the next generation of young Americans will be able to afford the luxury of a gentle and loving existence.

Instead, there is a danger that they will go forth into a brutal environment equipped with an attitude of mind which compels them to contemplate flowers and affect the mannerisms of Mahatma Gandhi and other such saintly persons.

An incident I recall involved a young soldier in Army basic training several years ago, before the War in Vietnam and at a time when the military experience was brutal, but not usually fatal.

This young man, like millions of others, was subjected to the Army's rather harmless and routine instruction in use of the gas mask.

Forced to remove his mask inside a room filled with tear gas, he emerged, choking and sobbing, and said, to no one in particular: "How can they be so cruel? This is positively the worst thing that ever happened to me."

The sergeant in charge of the training was amused, but not noticeably touched.

AND SO, the case for war toys.

Though a great number of more or less intelligent Americans have seen fit to place some sort of blame upon the manufacturers of "realistic" war toys, these villains of today could conceivably become the heroes of a future generation of psychiatrists.

The crux of the matter lies in the fact that we must describe war toys as "realistic."

If, as most psychologists and psychiatrists maintain, the purpose of a child's playthings is to prepare him for a role in the adult world, then certainly there is no argument against "realistic" toys.

Filmdom Enigma

It was a long way to go for an interview but William Holden has long been one of filmdom's enigmas. I say filmdom and not Hollywood because he's not been a part of that establishment, that glamorous millieu for some time. In disassociating himself from Southern California, in order to find a life with more meaning, he went one step further and gave up hs citizenship to live in Afrca.

My visit to Parras, Coahuilla, Mexico, took three airlines and two private cars to complete but the rugged Mexican terrain, especially the arroyo in which I spent three days with Warner Bros.-Seven Arts "The Wild Bunch" company, was worth seeing. For seven weeks the company of 200 actors and technicians had been living in a charming Eighteenth Century town of Parras, 2½ hours' drive from Torreon, north of Durango and west of Monterrey. As the first reporter on the scene and a woman besides, I enjoyed plenty of attention from Robert Ryan, William Holden, Ernest Borgnine, Ben Johnson, Jaime Sanchez and Warren Oates. Edmund O'Brien had his wife with him, so we only chatted briefly. And being bowled over by the famous Mexican actor-producer-director Emilio Fernandez isn't exactly the biggest compliment in the world since he's had 14 wives and had repeated the same line to every woman in the production office.

There was little time for the boys to kick up their heels. They ride out to the location site at 6 a.m. and don't return to town until 6 p.m. The sun bakes the dust and mud and makeup into their skin and it was a daily fight to get to the showers before the water was turned off.

But I hit town the day of Holden's 53rd birthday and a lady friend of his had flown down with 12 New York filet steaks, fresh asparagus, two cheesecakes and California wine packed in dry ice. The mariachi band serenaded us in the centuries old patio of the finest house in town and we sang and danced and celebrated until the principal actors remembered the long, hot, tough shooting schedule ahead and wandered off down the main street to their respective rooms.

Now a citizen of Switzerland, Holden has preserved the image he set 18 years ago when he won an Oscar nomination for "Sunset Boulevard." He's always been thought of as average guy, stable and conservative. His marriage to former actress Brenda Marshall lasted 20 years while his two sons attended London's American School. He shunned parties and the limelight in favor of traveling and learning about the good life in Japan and how to relax.

HOLDEN IS MUCH MORE COMPLICATED THAN THAT. He hasn't found himself and maybe never will. There is a rebellious spirit that is constantly at war with the serious strain in him and the averageness or dullness of this regular guy image he's projected, gets him the kind of roles he does best. Underneath, the facade, the daredevil personality is fighting for release.

Several years ago he was involved in a fatal accident in France, racing along the highways with two women in a fast car. He once owned a Bentley Continental and a Ferrari. As part owner in the Kenya Safari Club, he spends most of his year in Africa and minimizes danger in the same way he resists having stuntmen cover for him.

The son of a Pasadena chemical manufacturer, Holden was discovered at Pasadena Playhouse by a Paramount scout. He was a star at 20 after "Golden Boy" in 1938. Four years later, when he came out of the service, he couldn't get a job. But he built his career slowly and carefully through such winners as "Stalag 17" for which he won an Oscar, "Country Girl," "The Key," "Bridge On the River Kwai," "Born Yesterday," "The World of Suzie Wong." The real William Holden might well have been the vagabond character he played in "Picnic" but he keeps his life so private that only his intimates would know it.

HOLDEN ISN'T A GOODIE-GOODIE. He drinks heavily, has been publicly linked with more than one blonde, is deeply concerned about animal conservation, politics and people.

"I'm one of one million, six hundred thousand Americans living abroad who can't vote, can't own property, have no tax writeoffs but pay full U.S. taxes. Europe is the last frontier for businessmen. I like living in Africa. I have 1200 acres and 1,000 animals that I'm developing for breeding, animal research and behavior. And I'm not against hunting."

Why does he put his big salary into such a project? "Everyone has a hobby. Some guys gamble. I don't."

Friendship Her Reward

THE CAREER OF ANNA EASON brings to mind the words of George Eliot, "Humblest service done by willing and discerning souls is glory."

Such service, says Richards, "is essential to the promotion of brotherhood in the world. There is always a need for it."

"Your country and your community will always need your help and devotion," he writes.

Such service calls for men and women to live at their best — it transcends thoughts of renumeration — but the rewards are overwhelming.

For Ann Eason, deep friendship with all kinds of people was a reward for her service. Boys and girls loved her, men and women enjoyed her greetings as they came into public meetings. Her associates among the senior citizens looked for her guidance in the affairs of their association.

The advancement of young people in the community was another reward that Mrs. Eason enjoyed — "no child is a bad child" she said to the Director of Recreation in Daly City, "but each child needs a chance."

IN LATE YEARS Ann Eason became interested in gathering the history of Northern San Mateo County — with several long time associates she joined the Daly City Historical Committee.

During one of the first meetings she joined others in a proposal that the Daly City Library acquire as many books as possible relating to San Mateo County and to California.

With this in mind the committee asked Daly City citizens to contribute copies of their notes and memoirs. To this end several works have been added — among them is a book, "Forward Looking Lessons in United States History," by W. J. Savage who was superintendent of schools in Colma and Daly City for many years.

Almost as a compliment to the book, the Historical Committee has collected and reproduced pictures of the various eighth grade classes that Mr. Savage graduated. These show bright and merry young people who grew up to be good men and women. Many still live in the Northern San Mateo County area.

A list of other materials collected by the Historical Committee includes:

A History of Holy Angels Parish by Teresa Altieri, Memoirs of Edmund Cavaynaro, The History of the San Mateo Public School District by Byron Clyde Curry, The Early History of Colma by Matrup Jensen, An Autobiography by Mattrup Jensen, The History of Daly City as recorded in the December 25, 1915 Daly City Record and Tatler, A record of the First Grace Presbyterian Church by Jean O'Rourk, A list of Residents in Colma — Daly City, California 1878-1915 by Richard N. Schellens, Notes on Daly City Government by Henry Sundermann, Sr.

AT THE TIME of Mrs. Eason's death, the Historical Committee was preparing to interview Northern San Mateo County's long time residents in an effort to obtain memoirs similar to those listed.

The members of the Historical Committee believe the area they represent has contributed much to the development of California. They believe it has a bright future based upon solid foundations.

At one of the meetings of the Committee, Mrs. Eason called attention to the closing words of Mr. Savage's book

"Our country is rich and prosperous; still we must be meek and industrious. 'The light streams upon the pathway leading forward and nowhere else.' "

Such was the faith of Ann Eason as well as William J. Savage. Such is the legacy of service that she leaves the communities of her home.

Letters to the Editor

Question Is No Longer Color

Editor, The Post:

I would like to say something concerning the letter by "I'm white. Nancy Palmer." Bigotry and prejudice no matter how expressed is not right. This is what the score is all about today. The question is no longer the color of the skin but very much rather the condition of the moral fiber of each of us.

Just about a month ago one of the San Francisco metropolitan dailies carried an article concerning U.S. Army defectors giving a press release in Moscow (a Reuters release). About midway in the article the following appears:

Six defectors—one American, one Negro, and one South Korean with American citizenship. . . .

I would like to paraphrase to point the finger of prejudice—

Six MEN—One American, one Negro, and one South Korean with American citizenship.

If they didn't know before being thusly described, I am certain that at least two of these defectors must fully understand why they could and did defect from the armed forces.

I am not aware of any protest being made to the San Francisco papers. No sit-ins have occurred. No riots have happened. However, until Nancy Palmer and all the rest of us—black, white, red, and yellow—reach the point where we refuse this kind of subtle propaganda, until we have rooted out the hate, misunderstanding, and condemnation for each other, it is a matter of fact that we are born losers.

Six men—one American, one . . . can you visualize yourself in this kind of prejudicial description of your brother man and fellow citizen?

ARTHUR STEWART

Little Green Gap

Despite the scarcity and uncertainty of their own observations, many earthmen seem eager to believe that their government has been hiding the truth about extraterrestrial visitors, or at least that it has been trying to ring down a "laughter curtain" over the whole subject.

A credibility gap has long existed between UFO believers and the Air Force.

And if a new administration's secretary of the Air Force were to make a new study and reach the same conclusion — that there aren't any visitors from outer space — the flying saucer buffs will go right on with their policy of selective disbelief.

There seems to be no way to close this particular credibility gap except for a little green man to step forward and identify himself.

And if he fails to say, "Take me to your leader," some folk won't even believe the little green man.

'DMV Sells Names'

QUESTION: I received a letter bearing my lucky license number and offering me a free stereo. Where did they get my name and license number?

ANSWER: The Department of Motor Vehicles sells listsof names. Read the mailing carefully before picking up the prize. The stereo is probably free only if you buy a stereo album at $4.95 weekly for 52 weeks. This would amount to $257.40 which, in our opinion, is sufficient to cover the cost of the stereo, album, the firm's overhead and profit.

QUESTION: I was told by a cooking utensil salesman that the use of aluminum caused cancer.

ANSWER: Medical authorities and cancer experts have repeatedly publicized the falsity of this old, untrue claim. Some unethical salespeople attempt to use a demonstration with salt and bicarbonate which, combined with the alumina, form a scum and frightens many housewives.

QUESTION: I would like to know about the deaf mutes who present a card which reads something like this: "I am a deaf mute. I am selling this card to see my way through."

ANSWER: The National Association of the Deaf advises you not to give to these people. They often travel in crews or gangs under the direction of a "boss" who takes 50 percent of the proceeds. Each beggar can collect anywhere from $175 to $400 weekly, depending on his energy and how "easy" a community is for a soft touch.

QUESTION: I saw a dress on sale and bought it. Later, several blocks down the street I saw the same dress for two dollars cheaper. I was told by the first store that it was a sale dress and could not be returned. Also, they said they were not obligated to refund me the difference in price between the two dresses.

ANSWER: A store establishes its own policy on sale merchandise. It can charge any price it chooses to for a particular item. The responsibility for shopping before buying lies on the customer. You are not entitled to a refund.

Board Studies TV Sex Series

The County Board of Education has issued a public statement, in the form of an official resolution, making it clear that the controversial "Time of Your Life" TV series has not received its approval.

The sex education series presented by Station KQED has caused a storm of protest throughout the county which has led to cancellation of its showing in some schools, where it was being used as a pilot project.

The county board's resolution states that the series will not be approved or disapproved as an audio-visual aid to the San Mateo County Teachers' Guide on Family Like Education "until a full evaluation of subject matter, script and grade level placement has been determined following a thorough analysis of the series."

As part of the evaluation process, the county schools office is reviewing questionnaires returned by parents, teachers and school administrators who have been involved in the program.

Westmoor Has Eleventh Awards Fete

Westmoor's eleventh Annual Awards Assembly was held recently, in the school gym. Following this presentation, all parents, teachers, and graduating seniors were invited to the Senior Reception in Westmoor's cafeteria.

Richard Coltrell, principal of Westmoor, opened the first non-mandatory Awards Assembly by swearing into office the fall 1968 student body officers and by presenting the Spring 1968 officers their pins for all the work they had put ino student government in the past semester. Next on the agenda the two valedictorians were honored and presented with Reader's Digest subscriptions.

Senior class adviser, Robert Blancke, followed Coltrell in giving recognition to the outstanding senior boy, girl, and service. He also named the student who is to speak at graduation.

Scholarships and honorariums of the class of 1968 were then presented by Westmoor's assistant principal and instructor, Clayton Kollmann. Such organizations as the Daly City Rotary Club, California State Scholarship, and Westmoor's P-IA composed the lists of groups granting scholarships to the students.

The fifteen life members of lhe California Scholarship Federation received acknowledgements for their consistent excellent grades. Miss Jennie Gates, math teacher and CSF adviser, named these honor students. Two senior boys were then presented by Blancke an Invest in America Certificate.

Not only did seniors receive honors at the assembly, but other students too. Mrs. George Sivon, Junior class adviser, presented Girls' State and Boys' State awards, Jastro summer scholarship, Nations Inc. summer workshop scholarship, and International Friendship Club Summer Abroad Program to the juniors.

Mrs. Judy Peterson, class of 1970 adviser, presented an Invest in America Scholarship to a sophomore, while Miss Rosemary Henson, 1971 class adviser, presented a Junior Achievement award to a freshman.

Each of the department heads gave out awards, specific scholarchips, plaques, and named those elected to membership in the Hall of Fame. Miss Gaylore Tyau presented honors to business students, Lee Doyle presented honors to English students, Peter Zacheriou presented awards to the yearbook staff, Robert Nissen awarded the outstanding fine art students, John Milton presented awards to the foreign language students, and Larry Carlson presented awards to the industrial arts students.

Homemaking awards were given out by Mrs. Marge Rossander, mathematics by Vern Curtis, physical education by Tony Giammona and Miss Barbara Bosio, social science by Dexter Leland, and science by Erling Logan.

Commencing this ceremony, Coltrell presented Westmoor's P-TA gift of $50 to the library. Accepting for the school was Steve Seager, senior class president.

After the assembly, all were invited to the Senior Reception, where various enticing cakes and candies, coffee and punch awaited them. Prepared solely by the cafeteria workers under the instruction of Mrs. Anne Barreto were fudge brownies, gaily decorated pettifores, colorfully iced butterfly and ice cream cupcakes, mint swirls, tortes, rich coffee toffee bars, and strawberry and lemon tarts.

Economics Scholarship To San Bruno Girl

Phyllis Sposito, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Sposito of San Bruno, has been awarded the Bay District, California Home Economics Association Scholarship for 1968. The award was made in memory of Mrs. Marguerite Fenner.

Phyllis, a junior at California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo, is majoring in home economics with an emphasis on home management and Child Development. Phyllis has earned funds for her schooling by working at the San Francisco Hilton Inn. She has been involved in many extra-curricular activities at Cal Poly including the Home Economics Club, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Poly Royal festivities, yearbook, and the "one to one" tutorial program.

The scholarship is awarded on the basis of scholastic achievement and need to Home Economics students whose homes are in the Bay District.

Law Firm Files Suit For Brunan

A $500,000 damage suit was filed in Superior Court in San Francisco Friday on behalf of a San Bruno man whose right arm was crushed last March 28 while he was at work at International Airport.

The suit was filed by the San Mateo law firm of Tormey, Cotchett and Lev for E. G. Dosier, 29, of 535 Walnut Street, who lost his arm while helping install a machine at the United Air Lines maintenance base.

According to the complaint, a hook broke and allowed a 1,700-pound weight to fall on Dosier's arm. The victim, who did not lose consciousness, was in Peninsula Hospital for nearly a month.

Defendants are the North and Judd Manufacturing Company of Illinois, Gulf and Western Corporation of New York, and Springfield Machine Tool Company of Massachusetts.

The suit alleges that the defendants "negligently, carelessly and wrongfully designed, manufactured, inspected and supplied the machines as to cause it to be unsafe." It further alleges that the defendants failed to give adequate warning about the proper use of the machine.

Must Repay $10,732

A Daly City woman has been ordered to repay $10,732 she was convicted of receiving through welfare fraud.

Superior Judge Melvin E. Cohn ordered Mrs. Dabney Lyle Pearl, 27, of 163 Avalon Drive, to make restitution as a condition of one year's summary probation. He also levied a $50 fine.

Judge Cohn instructed Mrs. Pearl to sell her Daly City home to satisfy the requirement of restitution.

Charges were brought against Mrs. Pearl in 1967 after investigation by the district attorney's office revealed that when she applied for welfare assistance for herself and four children in 1963 she failed to disclosed that she had been receiving $40 a month from her father-in-law, that she had stock valued at more than $10,000 and approximately $5,000 in savings accounts.

Woman Dies As Accident Trial Starts

A 48-year-old San Francisco woman, in a coma since her injury May 13 in a Daly City automobile accident, died early Friday, a few hours before the driver of the car was scheduled to appear in Superior Court on a felony drunk driving charge.

The victim, Mrs. Alice Yohopenic, of 392 Crescent, San Francisco, who was a passenger in the car driven by Willie Charles Tillman of 1265 Galvez, San Francisco, died at Mary's Help Hospital at 2:40 a.m. Friday.

Tillman was scheduled to appear in Superior Court in Redwood City Friday on a felony drunk driving charge stemming from the accident, in which the Tillman auto smashed into a concrete-filled steel pole.

The pole, Daly City police reports indicated, protected a flashing signal at the intersection of Geneva Avenue and Rio Verde Street.

A spokesman for the San Mateo County Coroner's office said Mrs. Yohopenic had been thrown through the windshield of the car upon impact.

She had been comatose at the Mary's Help Hospital since her admittance. The coroner's office said she died of multiple head injuries.

Tillman was arrested at the scene by Daly City police. Arraigned in the Northern Judicial District Court at South San Francisco, he was held to answer in Superior Court on the felony count.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

Brush After Meals

Brushing after meals not only helps to remove food particles from which decay acids are formed, but also helps to remove the bacteria that are responsible for producing the acid. So get in the habit of brushing after every meal.

Brush Thoroughly

Even if you brush after every meal, success in preventing decay won't be achieved unless you brush thoroughly. Use a good toothbrush that is in good condition.

Please ask your dentist about proper brushing of teeth.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extraction for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth, as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Pears, Cheese In Continental Salad

Contrast delicately flavored, juicy canned Bartlett pears with a nippy cheese dressing. Top it off with crunchy cashew nuts and you have a mouth watering blend of flavors and textures that can't be equaled.

Old English cheese and cream cheese are blended together with pear syrup and chopped dates, then mounded in the center of each pear half. Chopped cashew nuts go over all. Serve on individual lettuce-lined plates or arrange on a platter to accompany a buffet meal.

Use remaining pear syrup as the liquid in gelatin salads or to flavor dessert sauces. In combination with tangy fruit juices it makes a wonderfully refreshing drink.

Continental Pear Salads

- 1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can Bartlett pear halves
- 1 (5 oz.) jar old English cheese
- 1 (3 oz.) package cream cheese
- 2 tablespoons pear syrup
- ¼ cup chopped dates
- ¼ cup chopped cashew nuts
- Lettuce

Chill pears. Bring cheeses to room temperature. Drain pears and reserve 2 tablespoons pear syrup. Place pear halves, cut-side up, on a lettuce-lined platter or individual salad plates. Combine cheeses, thinning a little with reserved pear syrup. Blend in chopped dates. Place spoonful of cheese mixture in center of each pear half. Top with cashew nuts. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Sandwich That's Hearty, Flavorful

Want a hearty, flavorful sandwich? Choose this regal Reuben sandwich well endowed with juicy, tender canned corned beef, sauerkraut and sliced Swiss cheese. The combination makes a filling and flavorful sandwich satisfying enough to serve as the main course for a family lunch or supper.

When preparing this sandwich filling, it's good to know that canned corned beef is fully cooked lean meat with no filling or binding ingredients added. For this reason it is not only an economical buy, but can be used just as it comes from the can.

Regal Reuben Sandwiches

- 1 can (12 ounces) corned beef, unchilled
- ½ cup (1 stick) butter, softened
- 4 teaspoons prepared yellow mustard
- 1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
- 16 slices rye bread
- 8 slices process Swiss cheese
- 1 can (1 pound) sauerkraut, drained
- ¼ cup butter for grilling

Flake corned beef with fork. Cream butter until soft, then add mustard and pickle relish. Spread each slice of bread with butter mixture. Place ½ to ⅓ cup flaked corned beef on half of the buttered bread slices. Top meat with cheese slice, then with ¼ to ⅓ cup well drained sauerkraut. Top with remaining slices of buttered bread, buttered side down.

Heat ¼ cup butter in electric skillet until bubbly. Grill four sandwiches at a time, turning when bottom side is brown. Grill on remaining side until sandwiches are heated through and cheese is beginning to melt. Repeat with remaining four sandwiches, adding more butter to skillet if necessary. Cut in half and serve with relishes as desired.

Makes 8 servings.

Seafood's Nutritional Qualities Being Brought to Light By Current Study

As food scientists probe the relationship between our daily diet and our health, some interesting facts about the unique nutritional qualities of seafood are being brought to light. Many nutritionists are recommending that seafoods should be eaten as often as seven times a week.

Their research indicates seafoods supply us with the kind of nutrition we need for our modern way of life. It is relatively low in calories, contains complete protein, essential vitamins and minerals, plus generous quantities of poly-unsaturated fats.

Pound for pound fish has only half to two-thirds the number of calories of beef or pork. Fish contain as much as three times more poly-unsaturated fatty acids than vegetable oils, as much as seven times more than beef.

The relationship of poly-unsaturated fats and cholesterol levels to health seems to be significant in the prevention of heart disease.

Preventive Program

In the last decade, nutritionists and physicians have tackled the problem of a mounting heart disease rate to find a preventive program. Studies of diet have figured importantly in this work, and in many of the reports on results, one of the recommendations is unequivocally — eat more seafood!

One of the first things recommended as a preventive measure to avoid heart disease — as well as many other health problems — is to avoid becoming overweight. Life-long weight control is recommended. Seafoods — low in calories and high in appetite satisfaction — fit perfectly into a diet plan that makes weight control easy and natural.

The problem of how fats in the diet effect health is more complicated than simply controlling the intake of excess calories. Fats are essential to body functions. By their chemical structure, fats are classified as: saturated, usually found in foods of animal origin; mono-saturated; and poly-unsaturated, found in foods like fish, shellfish, liquid vegetable oils, and poultry.

Based on what is now known, it is believed that saturated fats tend to raise the blood cholesterol level; poly-unsaturated fats lower blood cholesterol. Mono-saturated fats have little effect.

The direct link between saturated fats, cholesterol and heart diseases has not been finally established. However, so much research has turned up statistically significant incidence of high cholesterol level in people suffering from heart disease, that — young and old — should restrict the amount of saturated fat eaten as a preventive measure which may be beneficial.

Prudent Diet

An example of one such research project is the Diet and Coronary Heart Disease Study begun by the late Dr. Norman Jolliffe, who served as director of the Bureau of Nutrition in the New York City Department of Health. The study involved over 1200 men between the ages of 40 and 59. One group, nicknamed the "anti-coronary club" agreed to follow a special diet. The aim of what came to be called the "prudent diet" was to cut back on the amount of calories obtained from fats. Part of the plan limited the use of animal foods and recommended four servings of fish a week.

A control group continued to eat their regular diet. Both groups had blood tests and physical check-ups regularly.

After four years, significantly fewer members of the "anti-coronary club" were overweight, had high blood pressure, or had unusually high cholesterol levels than did members of the control group. The incidence of heart disease in the "anti-coronary club" was only one-third that of the men in the control group.

This study is just one. Other authorities strongly recommend a change in food patterns in order to promote better health, and they specifically mention the value of seafoods.

Grown Only Here

Cling peaches are grown commercially only in California. Ideally suited for canning as well as being important as a fresh fruit, some 30 million cases of cling peaches are packed each year, plus being the major ingredient in 15 million cases of mixed fruit.

Left Overs Sparked Delectable Dishes

Many of our most delectable dishes owe their very existence to left-overs! Some of our greatest soups, stews, ragouts were created by cooks left with a little bit of this and a little bit of that — too good to throw away and too little to serve again in its original form. You'll find it a starting point and gourmet touch for many a concoction of your own contriving once you've experienced its delightful texture and the unusual flavor it contributes to a dish:

POTATO CHIP PASTRY
1 cup crushed potato chips
1 cup instant no-shift flour
1-3 cup shortening
4-5 tbsp cold water

Combine crushed chips and flour; cut in shortening with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Sprinkle water on the mixture, tossing lightly to moisten all particles. Roll on floured board and trim to fit 8" or 9" pie pan.

THREE-EGG PIE
3 eggs, beaten
1½ cups milk
1½ cups cheddar cheese, grated
1 cup cooked ham, diced
½ tsp onion powder
½ tsp salt
¼ tsp pepper
1 tsp dry mustard

Spread grated cheese in bottom on unbaked pie shell. Mix all other ingredients together and pour over cheese. Bake at 375 degrees for about 45 minutes, or until firm in the middle. Sprinkle crushed potato chips on top. Serve hot.

Keep Milk Clean, Cool

June Dairy Month is reminder time on summer care of milk and dairy products.

To keep fresh milk at its best, follow the rule of 3 C's and a D. Keep milk clean, cold, covered and in the dark. Milk holds both food value and flavor best when kept cold. Refrigerate immediately; return to refrigerator promptly after pouring amount These rules apply equally to wanted for immediate use. cottage cheese, dairy sour cream, buttermilk and all other fresh dairy products.

Halibut Steaks Tasty 'n Elegant

If company's coming and you need a quick but elegant dish, here's your recipe . . . Heavenly Halibut. It takes just minutes to prepare, but has a truly sumptuous look and flavor. The name is a natural, because your guests will taste and exclaim — "Mm — heavenly."

The sauce has oriental overtones, a subtle combination of sweet nectarines, ginger and soy sauce. It's a perfect foil for the Halibut steaks which are brushed with a mustardy glaze and broiled.

Because the fish cooks so quickly, you'll have plenty of time beforehand to arrange your table setting, make dips for the cocktail hour, and be a gracious hostess in the living room rather than dashing about the kitchen.

A tossed salad, frozen tiny peas and warm brown and serve rolls can complete your elegant, easy - to - do dinner.

6 nectarines, cut into eights
¼ cup sugar
¾ teaspoon ginger
1 tablespoon soy sauce
3 pounds halibut steaks, fresh or frozen, 1 inch thick
Salt
½ cup brown sugar
One-third cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon prepared mustard

Combine nectarines, sugar and ginger; simmer 10 minutes. Add soy sauce and set aside. Sprinkle halibut with salt and place on greased broiler rack. Combine brown sugar, lemon juice and mustard; brush mixture on halibut. Broil about 5 minutes; turn and brush remaining side with brown sugar sauce. Broil 5 minutes longer or just until fish is done. To test, prick fish with a fork. If it flakes, it is done. Take care not to overcook. Serve with warm nectarine sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Ripe Olive Appetizer Salads

Toss ½-cup pitted ripe olives and 1 (4½-ounce) can tiny shrimp with 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 tablespoon salad oil, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion, 2 teaspoons chili sauce and ⅛ teaspoon garlic powder. Cover and chill four hours. Serve on lettuce with crackers.

Quick Chowder That's Delicious

Imaginative blending of two varieties of canned soup, a can of crab meat and a can of evaporated milk yields in minutes a hearty chowder suitable for family meals—or simple but elegant party fare. Evaporated milk smooths and blends the soups and flaked crab meat to chowder-perfect, full-bodied richness. A marvelous menu-mate for this delicious crab chowder is a salad combo of tart and sweet fruits, chilled and served with a tangy dressing.

Elegant Crab Chowder

1 can (10½ oz.) condensed chicken gumbo soup
1 can (11 oz.) condensed pepper pot soup
1 tall can (13 fl. oz.) evaporated milk (1⅔ cups)
1 can (7 oz.) crab meat, drained and flaked

In a medium size saucepan mix the soups together. Blend in evaporated milk. Add crab meat and mix well. Cover and heat to serving temperature over low heat, about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes 4 servings.

Apple Meatballs For New Twist

Chopped steak, often served in a mundane and unappealing manner, can become a family favorite with the addition of a few zestful ingredients.

Tomato sauce has long been a colorful and enriching accompaniment, but tomato in this case does not tell the whole tale. Hidden in these meatballs are chopped, tart apples which impart a subtle yet distinguishing flavor to this highly original dish. Krispy Crackers from your kitchen shelf bind the tasteful ingredients together, and it's all as easy as can be.

Served with saffron rice, the eye appeal of Apple Meatballs will equal their taste appeal.

Apple Meatballs

12 double Krispy Crackers
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 pound ground top round steak
1 cup peeled and coarsely grated tart apple
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup tomato juice

Crush crackers into very fine crumbs between two sheets of waxed paper; there should be about 1 cup. Stir well with salt and pepper and gently work into the meat already mixed with apple and eggs. Roll into balls about 1½ inches in diameter and place in a shallow baking dish in one layer. Cover with tomato juice. Bake in preheated moderately hot oven (375°) for about one-half hour, or until done all the way through. If tomato juice evaporates too rapidly before cooking is complete, add a bit more. Serve on parslied saffron rice. Yield: 6 servings.

New Cookie Treat —Divinity Candy

No one is more delighted than a child to find his food fixed in an imaginative new way.

Next time you prepare a lunchbox or are planning a youngster's party, why not whip up some old-fashioned divinity candy to glorify those ever-popular creme-filled chocolate wafers. You simply beat a heated syrup mixture into an egg white, and top your cookies with the fluff mixed with chopped nuts.

Be sure to put enough of these special cookies in the lunchbox for school friends, too. Half your child's fun will be in showing what a good cook you are.

Follow these simple directions:

Divinity Candy Cookies

1 cup sugar
¼ cup water
¼ cup light corn syrup
1 egg white
Pinch salt
¼ teaspoon vanilla
⅓ cup coarsely chopped pecans or walnuts
20 to 24 Hydrox cookies

Place sugar, water and syrup in saucepan over moderate heat; stir until dissolved. Scrape any grains of sugar on sides of pan down into mixture with rubber spatula. Cook mixture over moderate heat, without stirring, to 265°F. on candy thermometer or until the mixture forms a ball in cold water (drop a bit of syrup in cool water; the syrup is ready when a soft ball forms). Meanwhile beat egg white with salt until mixture hold stiff peaks. Pour syrup little by little over the egg white, beating all the while with an electric mixer or egg beater. (Keep syrup over very low heat until it is used up.) When all syrup is beaten in, add vanilla. With large spoon, beat in nuts and continue to beat until mixture stands up well and loses its shiny appearance. Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls onto Hydrox cookies. When completely cool store in airtight container.

Yield: 20 to 24 pieces.

Tasty Country Chicken

Planning a satisfying supper fare sometimes can become a mental hazard. Many homemakers feel they can't serve tempting meals without always serving exactly what everyone likes. Then to add to your woes, families sometimes grumble about "pick up" dinners on days when there are important meetings to attend or social engagements planned for the evening.

The fact is that there are many ways to prepare foods just a little differently and make them just as delicious. And as to "hurry-up" dinners, they can be made without fuss and bother, and still be attractive.

Check your file, for instance, for casserole recipes. One-dish meals are not only quick and easy to make, but they will delight your family. At the same time, the what-to-serve problem vanishes into thin air.

This delectable entree, called "Country Chicken," is a taste-tempting combination of delicate white meat of chicken baked with brilliant green broccoli, saucy cheddar cheese soup and the flavor ingredient of zesty American blue cheese. Zippy parmesan cheese forms the crisp topping.

Country Chicken may be varied by substituting tuna or turkey for the chicken, and tender asparagus or peas for the broccoli.

Complement the entree with piping hot rolls and a fruit-gelatin salad. Meringue shells, filled with ice cream and topped with frozen strawberries, would be a perfect finale.

COUNTRY CHICKEN
(Serves 6)

- 4 chicken breasts
- 2 packages frozen broccoli spears
- 2 cans cheddar cheese soup
- ½ cup American blue cheese (About 3 ounces, crumbled)
- ¼ cup parmesan cheese
- 3 green pepper rings, optional

Gently simmer the chicken until done. Remove meat from bones. Cut or tear the meat into nice large pieces. Cut the broccoli lengthwise into thin stalks.

In a buttered casserole place a layer of chicken, then a layer of broccoli, spoon soup over broccoli. Crumble American blue cheese on top. Alternate layers until chicken, broccoli and blue cheese are used.

Spoon soup on top. Sprinkle parmesan cheese on top. Bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes or until mixture is lightly browned and bubbly. Garnish with pepper rings, if desired.

Saucemaker Important

In the Middle Ages, the office of "saucier" — master saucemaker — was invested with great importance. Youths were apprenticed to the master to learn his culinary skill.

At outdoor barbecue briquet grills today, father, sauce brush in hand, might easily personify the "saucier" of old. His modern-day apprentice in the art of sauce-making is, however, a pantry shelf staple: unsulphured molasses.

Many meats, fruits and vegetables respond deliciously to a barbecue sauce.

Bored? Turn to Dairy Foods

All too often the person who lives alone is ignored in this world of mass-concerns. He represents just a "wee voice" in the din of the multitudes when it comes to the business of eating. Here the frustrated longer reads recipe after recipe which makes 4-6-8 or more servings . . . and who wants to fill only his stomach and forgo the enjoyment of the fantastic array of gustatorial delights offered. As a result most loners are relegated to the "snacker category" of the nation. They become perpetual snackers as a resort to prevention of the "blahs" or "dull-doms," a state of taste bud fatigue resulting from sameness of diet extended over weeks and months of dreary eating.

Snacks represent a healthy variety of nutritional and flavor changes. Snacks for the most part, however, are sort of the odds-and-end department of the food industry . . . But not so with dairy foods which cater beautifully and deliciously to this form of dining.

So for the loner, home economists for the Dairy Council of California suggest that when that smidgeon of ground beef begins to look a bit tired and the open daps of canned foods in your refrigerator have all taken on the same flavor, it is time to reach for something in the dairy line to liven up the old taste-buds. For instance: yogurt which comes in many exciting flavors and colors; milk so easily transformed into luscious snacks — milk shakes made thick and flavor-rich with ice cream or simply flavored with chocolate, molasses, honey . . . or just enjoyed for its own icy-cold deliciousness; cottage cheese which can always find new "fruit fashions" to be dressed up with the final touch — a necklace of nuts; cream cheese which blends well with many foods; and cheese which comes in myriads of shapes, colors and flavors to challenge one's creative talents as she (he) experiments with cheese-flavor designs.

The dairy department is obviously a storehouse of snack-potential filled with ever new and changing flavors waiting to be enjoyed by you.

NICKNAMES

North Dakota has two nicknames — Sioux State and Flickertail State.

Bones Busy Cell Factory, Need Food

Most people tend to consider their bones and teeth as "dead," inorganic substances. This is perhaps because of their apparent inflexability and hardness, but this is not the case.

Bones are really not even very solid. Actually they are busy factories of cells, growing and dying and being "relocated" constantly throughout one's lifetime. Or, to put it another way, bone cells remain alive and are constantly secreting a bony matrix throughout life.

This matrix contains calcium salts, found in such abundance in milk and other dairy foods, and other organic matter which are responsible for the hardness of and lack of brittleness in healthy bones.

Both of these factors are necessary if we are to stand straight against the pressure of gravity, for example. Without calcium our bones would be too soft to act in cooperation with the pull of our muscles in order for us to move, and so it follows that without adequate calcium not only will the bones perhaps become misshapened, break easily or otherwise be inadequate, but movement might well become inefficient and sluggish.

Body Will Need Salts

Many trace elements and salts are needed even though in many cases in the most infinitesmal amounts to keep the heart functioning at top level. For example, a sudden decrease in calcium ions in the blood have been known to cause convulsions and death.

This is so because the heart muscles can contract normally only in the presence of the proper balance of sodium, phosphorous, potassium and calcium ios.

The importance of milk with its balanced ratio of phosphorous to calcium as a staple in the daily diet can not be over stated. In other words, it can be said that milk and its attendant dairy foods really get down to the heart of the matter.

Snow White Celery Tip

Celery may be bleached snow white in just two weeks by wrapping a newspaper around it. Hold the paper in place with rubber bands. Then as soon as you uncover a bleached stalk, move the newspaper up the row to the next unwrapped stalk. Wrap about two dozen stalks to start with, leaving just the tops or the upper leaves of the stalks sticking out about two or three inches above the paper.

Vanilla Cupcakes

Making vanilla-flavored cupcakes for your children? Tint the batter pink, using red vegetable coloring. Cover the cupcakes with white frosting and, garnish with cherries. Pretty enough for a party.

Turkey Will Help Balance Diet

Not only is turkey tasty and thrifty, It has special nutritive values, recent scientific studies indicate.

These nutritive values make turkey important in well-balanced diets for everyone in the family and in special diets for people with special problems, according to the Poultry and Egg National Board.

Turkey is rich in Vitamin B1 (tiamine) and Vitamin B2 (riboflavin). In fact, weight for weight turkey contains one and a half to three times as much riboflavin as most other cooked meats. Turkey is also considered a good source of niacin, phosphorous and iron.

Turkey is high in protein — not just any kind of proteins but "complete" proteins. The dietary value of protein is determined by the kinds and amount of amino acids it contains. Turkey meat contains 12 different amino acids, including all eight of the essential acids our food must supply completely formed and ready for use.

At the same time that it is high in protein turkey is low in calories, which makes it particularly useful in reducing diets. Each 100 calories of turkey meat contains 15 grams of protein as compared to about 12 grams of protein in 100 calories of lean pork or lean ground beef. A dinner-size 3½-ounce serving of turkey contains only about 212 calories. These 3½-ounces contain about half of the daily protein requirement for an adult man.

Turkey also has a place on the low cholesterol diet. Turkey is low in fats — particularly saturated fats. A 3½-ounce serving of turkey contains 3.10 grams of unsaturated fats and only 1.31 grams of saturated fats. The same size serving of round steak has 5.75 grams of unsaturated fats and 4.70 grams of saturated fats.

Research has indicated that turkey may even have medical value. Patients with psoriasis at a New York hospital showed considerable improvement after being served white turkey meat two times a day. Psoriasis, a baffling skin disease characterized by inflammatory, unsightly red botches and white scales, affects an estimated 2,500,000 people in the United States.

For all of these reasons, people are beginning to realize that turkey is too good a meat to be served only on special occasions. It deserves to be an every day meat.

Food Now Big Business

Production with its marketing of food is the nation's largest business. It is larger than the automobile industry, steel, aerospace. It provides jobs for millions of people in production, processing, transportation packaging and distribution of food for the consumer.

Millions of others engaged in the manufacture and distribution of equipment and supplies used on the farms and ranches of the nation are also dependent on the economic well-being of agriculture.

Dress Up Hamburg With Wine, Cheese

For a main dish extra that dresses up a plain old hamburger, here's a taste tempting recipe featuring American blue cheese and Burgundy wine.

BURGUNDY BLUE BURGERS
(Serves 6)

- 2 pounds ground lean beef
- ¾ cup Burgundy wine
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon grated onion
- ½ cup American blue cheese (about 3 ounces, crumbled)
- 1 clove garlic
- ¼ teaspoon minced parsley

Mix meat, ½ cup wine, seasonings, and onions. Store in covered container in refrigerator for several hours. Form into 12 patties. Crumble blue cheese on 6 patties. Top with remaining patties and press edges together. Rub skillet with garlic. Add butter and heat pan. Cook burgers to desired degree of doneness and place on heated platter. Stir remaining wine and parsley into juice. Heat through and serve over meat.

Grilled Food Might Tailor Your Figure

If you are a weight-watcher, charcoal briquet grilled foods are tailor-made to help you control weight safely and comfortably.

One reason is that meat, vegetables and fruits are usually broiled or roasted outdoors and seldom panbroiled or panfried. Thus the accumulations of fat and water drip away and do not permeate the food.

Another reason is that meat selected for barbecue grilling usually is leaner and lower in calories.

It is important to count calories in any program to trim off pounds. But it also is important to your health nd your feeling of well-being to eat meals which supply needed protein, vitamins and minerals.

Dinner menus offered here by the Nutrition Department of the National Livestock and Meat Board and patterned after meals used in weight reduction studies at Cornell University are ideal for charcoal fans. If you are on a 1400 or 1800 calories diet per day, select one of these dinners for your next cookout:

Odds 'n Ends Make Poultry Dressings

Save these odds and ends of stale bread for poultry dressing.

Roast Chicken with
Crumb and Crouton Stuffing
Green Peas Salad Bowl
Lemon Pie Beverage

CRUMB AND CRUTON STUFFING

¼ cups butter
1¼ cups chopped frozen onion
½ cup finely chopped celery including leaves
2 cups packaged seasoned bread croutons for stuffing
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ cup fine dry cornbread crumbs
¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
11 tablespoons (about) water

In a 10-in. skillet, melt the butter. Add the onion and celery. Cook gently, stirring often, until onion is wilted — about 10 minutes. Mix in the croutons, bread crumbs, cornbread crumbs, poultry seasoning and water — just enough water to moisten slightly. Use as stuffing for a five-pound roasting chicken, lightly packing it into body and neck cavities. Roast according to your favorite method.

FRED MARTINELLI has turned his Oliver's restaurant into a true haven for outdoorsmen. Male patrons can usually be heard discussing past and future fish and game expeditions. Fred's chefs will even prepare the trophies (when in season) that the sportsmen bring home . . . One of the West's largest and least expensive "All you can eat" food spreads is now available at noon time at San Mateo's famed Black Angus Chuck Wagon. Open daily at 11:30 p.m., midday patrons are offered the same bountiful buffet that has satisfied the appetites of thousands of Black Angus dinner patrons. WHEN DAVE RASMUSSEN and his Shadows of San Mateo crew entered the catering industry, they obviously meant business. Executive Chef Bill Mills says the Shadows is now catering for movie crews while they are on location in the Bay Area. They are already providing the food and libation for the crew of "Grab The Money and Run," which stars comedian Woody Allen . . . One of the handsome trophies on display in the entrance of South San Francisco's New Southern restaurant was recently won in a bowling tournament. Responsible for the award are Jan and Bill Kelley, and Eddie and Frank Curran, champions in the Mill's Mixed Fours. Just as proud are New Southern co-owners Reno and Julio Donati, and Nick Sbarra, who sponsored the team . . . The hot and cold hor d'oeuvres served at the V.I.P. DON DIANDA got the good — pardon, GREAT — news. His Doros gourmet restaurant in San Francisco's financial district has definitely been awarded Holiday Magazine's "DINING DISTINCTION IN SAN FRANCISCO" for the SEVENTH consecutive year . . . Bruno's in downtown San Mateo was the recent site for a surprise baby shower for Mrs. Robert Hunter. Over 40 friends and relatives gathered for the occasion, including her sister, Mrs. Jack Klingler, and several aunts, who joined together in planning the shower. Unexpected guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fear, who reside in New Jersey . . . Sizzling steaks, prepared to order, are what steak devotees may expect at the Bell family's thriving Skylark restaurant. Sea foods, chicken and a wide selection of salads are also Skylark attractions. Special dinner prices may be arranged for private groups of 25 persons or more.

Deluxe Dinners Also A Night Racing Added Highlight

One thing for sure: San Mateo doesn't lack for restaurants and entertainment — and that's in all fields. Now that Bay Meadows is featuring NIGHT HORSE RACING, under the auspices of the Peninsula Horse Racing Association, race track fans can enjoy de luxe dinners, full course or a la carte, while bringing in the winners. Cafeteria service is also available for those who prefer the convenience of selecting their own food from an array of tasty dishes.

New-look Bay Meadows is an ideal setting for an evening of fun, excitement, entertainment and dining while taking in the sport of Quarter Horse Racing the world's fastest. Excellent food served from 5:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. each racing day in the comfortably-heated indoor and outdoor Grandstand, Club House and Turf Club areas at Bay Meadows.

Lew Lehr's in San Francisco's Marina district has the rare distinction of being known as "a restaurant man's restaurant." Lehr's is where you'll find many of SF's leading restaurant owners dining on their night off — dining with family and friends.

Faces I miss seeing: Enrico Romano, the pizza king of Pacifica, who used to stop by this office for a look-see and chat quite often. Today, with all his auto racing and restaurant duties taking up much of his time, the "king" keeps a firm seat on the "throne."

No Vacation Pay For Navy Enlistee

An administration request for two weeks' vacation pay for a young Jeffersn Elementary School District employe who will enter the armed services next month was denied "with regret" last Tuesday by district trustees.

While individually voicing the wish that they could "somehow legally grant the request," the five board members voted unanimously against approving the vacation pay for "terminal" employe Carl Johnson, a custodian and painter with the district for the past four years.

Assistant Supt. Roger Barthuli, who recommended payment of the extra two weeks' salary, said the district was "somewhat at fault" in creating a situation where an employe was allowed to work full time for a period of 5 months, and yet remain ineligible for vacation pay and other benefits because of his "unclassified" status.

"It would appear we are penalizing this young man because he is going into the service," Board Chairman Thomas Noonan said.

However, trustees noted that the district attorney's office has ruled Johnson is ineligible for the vacation pay under rules of the Merit System, "and that is all there is to it."

"As guardians of the taxpayers' money, we cannot grant this request," Trustee George Perry said. "It would amount to a gift of public funds."

Johnson has not been granted the status of a permanent employe "because we knew his employment would terminate this summer," Barthuli said.

Johnson will enter the United States Navy July 30.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN by the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo that a public meeting will be held at 4:30 o'clock P.M. (CAL. This notice is given pursuant to Resolution No. 25138, adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo on May 21, 1968, and reference is hereby made to said resolution, to the Instructions to Lease Bidders, to the forms of Site Lease, Facility Lease, and Lease Bid Proposal and to this notice (hereinafter collectively referred to as the "Lease Documents"), as approved and adopted in said resolution and now on file in the office of the County Clerk of San Mateo County, copies of all of which may be obtained upon request from the County Clerk of San Mateo County.

(d) Said Site Lease and Facility Lease will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. Expect Argument On HMB Quarry

Application of Pacific Cement and Aggregates Company for renewal of its permit to operate a quarry near Half Moon Bay is expected to encounter strong opposition when it comes before the County Planning Commission today.

A number of letters of complaint have been received in the commission office, most of them expressing unhappiness with the traffic situation on Half Moon Bay Road. The letters charge that the trucks leave the quarry too close together and at times slow traffic on the narrow, winding mountain highway to a virtual standstill.

The quarry is on the Devincenzi property a mile north of Half Moon Bay Road and two and one-half miles east of Half Moon Bay.

The hearing, to be held in Redwood City, is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

Scheduled for the same time is a public hearing on the application of Holmes Lumber Company for a permit to allow logging of 2 million board feet of timber on John Wickett's property south of Purisima Canyon. A proposed logging operation in Purisima Canyon, opposed by conservationists, was scheduled to come before the County Board of Supervisors this afternoon.

Five-Story Complex Is Asked

Royal Inns of America, Inc., a motel chain with central offices in San Diego, has applied for a use permit to construct a 115-room facility off Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco, planning officials revealed today.

The firm will present plans next week for a five-story motel, restaurant and cocktail lounge near the intersection of Wondercolor Lane and South Airport on a site which is presently vacant.

The permit application has the approval of City Planner Daniel Pass because the new facility "would help the city and San Francisco International Airport meet a pressing need for motel and guest rooms."

Pass said preliminary plans exhibit "sound site and architectural planning, and provide for adequate off-street parking."

If approved, the new facility will be located only a short distance from the existing Holiday Inn Motel.

Safe Is Peeled In Bruno

Burglars burned and peeled their way into the safe at the Safeway food store at 100 skycrest Center in San Bruno.

San Bruno police said the store was entered through a roof hatch sometime between 10:15 p.m. Saturday and 7:50 a.m. Sunday.

Safeway officials placed the loss at "in excess of $100," a police department spokesman explained.

The source said Saturday's store receipts apparently were taken, indicating a "good haul," though the exact amount was not disclosed.

The burglars pried loose the roof hatch, then hoisted tanks and torches up to and through the opening with them.

The door to the store office also was pried before access to the safe could be made, police said.

The store's fire extinguishers, beer and soft drinks were utilized by the burglars to keep heat and smoke to a minimum.

Some of the beverages were used to quench the burglars' thirst, police also noted.

Tell Events For National

One of the big livestock events of the 1968 Grand National October 25 to November 3, will be "Golden Gate in '68—The Angus Show," according to Edith C. McDonald, chairman of the Livestock Committee and a member of the Board of Directors of the Cow Palace.

"Our livestock committee is delighted that we have been able to set this big attraction for Thursday, October 31," said Mrs. McDonald.

"Premiums for the Angus Show are $13,500," she added.

Special arena attraction this year will be Dick Griffith's daring trick riders featuring the famous Moon Flight by King Coal and his rider, Connie Griffith.

In addition to the lovestock exposition, the Grand National will feature the annual rodeo with America's top cowboys and a full classification horse show.

Livestock entries close Friday, September 20.

THE POST AUTO WORLD

DETROIT — U.S. motor vehicle production last week totaled 201,075 units, the Automobile Manufacturers Association reported today.

The week's output included 163,114 passenger cars and 37,961 trucks and buses. During the previous week 206,091 cars and 46,346 commercial vehicles were produced, the AMA said.

Production in May totaled 1,113,501 vehicles, including 915,103 passenger cars and 198,398 trucks and buses.

Cumulative output in 1968 through June 1 totaled 4,892,609 units, including 4,034,488 cars and 858,121 commercial vehicles. In the same period last year, 4,115,457 vehicles were produced — 3,353,767 passenger cars and 761,690 trucks and buses.

FLINT — Buick dealers recorded their second best May in history by selling 62,594 cars last month, a 19 per cent increase over last year, Roland S. Withers, general sales manager, reported today.

Buick sales in the final third of May totaled 22,055, a 16 per cent increase over the 19,011 deliveries in the same period last year, Withers said.

May was the fifth straight month in which Buick sales surpassed last year's total in the corresponding month, he added.

It brought Buick deliveries since Jan. 1 to 267,814 units, a 22 per cent increase over the 220,307 sales in the same five months of 1967 and the second highest selling rate in Buick's 66-year history.

Buick's all-time sales record was established in 1955.

In addition, Buick dealers sold 6150 Opel Kadetts in May, to continue their best sales pace since the Kadett line was introduced in the U.S. through Buick dealers in 1964.

DETROIT — Cadillac domestic deliveries of 20,172 in May set a fifth consecutive monthly new car sales record, according to Calvin J. Werner, general manager of Cadillac Motor Car Division and vice president of General Motors.

"The 20,172 new car sales in May are more than nine per cent over the former May record of 18,419 set last year," Werner said.

"Adding to their sales accomplishment Cadillac dealers posted a record-shattering 7,662 in the May 21-31 period," Werner reported. "This is the best sales total of any period in May and exceeds by more than 16 per cent the previous record of 6,564 set in May 21-31, 1967.

Cadillac's year-to-date sales, January 1 through May 31, are 97,165 — an increase of 8.9 per cent ahead of the comparable period in 1967 when 89,190 were reported.

"In an all-out effort to keep pace with the Cadillac dealer sales momentum, Cadillac's manufacturing division in May established an all-time monthly production record of 23,590," Werner stated. "The division's former production record for a month was set in October, 1967, when 23,408 Cadillacs were built."

G. J. CLEMESON
. . . Olds Promotion

Clemeson, who has held the post of assistant general sales manager in the field since September of 1956, started with Oldsmobile in November of 1945 following a brief career with Motors Insurance Corporation, a GM subsidiary, and a 3-year stint as a naval aviator during World War II.

In August of 1947, Clemeson was promoted from district manager to assistant zone manager in Milwaukee, and was transferred to Chicago as zone manager there in November of 1953.

Successive promotions resulted in his being named southwest regional manager and then assistant general sales manager in charge of sales in the eastern half of the country. His appointment to the western half occurred in June, 1967.

Clemeson received his college training at the University of Wisconsin, Purdue University and General Motors Institute.
